Cantors: Natalia Andrusyshyn [Наталія Андрусимин ] since 1952, and Hryhorij Chayka [Григорій Чайка] since 1957.

Historical data: In 1925, Metropolitan Andriy Sheptyckyj appointed Father Joseph Jean [not yet OSBM] to undertake the building of a Studite monastery and the foundation of a Ukrainian colony in the Abitibi district in Québec/Ontario. There were plans for about 10,000 persons to immigrate to the district from Western Ukraine, and for this purpose 100 sq. miles were obtained. A Studite monastery, the first outside of Europe, was built and about 150 families attended the Sunday Divine Liturgies in the chapel of the monastery.

Father Jean constructed a Ukrainian school and museum in Sheptyckyj, Québec, where the monastery was located, and there was even a Ukrainian post-office in the locality. For a number of reasons, the colony did not grow as expected, and the parish lasted only 10 years, from 1925 until 1935. In a disastrous fire, everything - monastery, school, museum - was destroyed, and was not rebuilt.

The parish was served by missionary priests who worked in the Sudbury and Fort William areas until 1918. Then there were no priests from 1918 until 1921 because of a disagreement with church

Former attended locality:

Kapuskasing, Ont.: The mission, which is 146 miles from Timmins, was opened in the early 1950's, and was always attended from Timmins. Since there is not a Ukrainian church, services were held in St. Patrick's Latin Rite Church. Originally, services were held at least twice a year, but were suspended (1962-1966) and then begun again by Father Stephen Smyk, who went on one Sunday each month. At present they are again suspended [1986]. There were plans to build a church, but many of the families have moved away.

Pastor: Rt. Rev. Mitr. Russell John Chyz [Руссав Иван Чиж], since 1985.

Retired Priest: Rt. Rev. Mitr. Petro Chomyn [Петро Хомин], pastor emeritus.

Historical data: The parish was organized in 1924, and the first services were held in the local Latin rite church hall by Father AndriJ Sarmaliuk from St. Josaphat parish in 1925. A former Protestant brick church was purchased in 1926, adapted for liturgical use in the Byzantine rite and given the name of Our Lady of Perpetual Help [Pokrova]. The parish hall is in the basement of the church building. The first rectory was destroyed by fire in 1964, and the present one was built in 1958. The total area of the church grounds is 939.4 sq. yards.

In 1964 the Church of Pokrova was built with the intention of being a continuation of the parish, but some of the parishioners were attached to the older church and preferred to remain and keep the older parish. Because there was a duplication of names, they took the name of Assumption of the BVM, although for many years it was still commonly called Our Lady of Perpetual Help.

The Julian calendar is in use.

The parish was served from St. Josaphat's until 1937.

Historical data: The area around Courtland was settled by Hungarians, chiefly from the counties of Szatmar, Szabolcs, Bihar, Borsed, Abauj and Zemplen, in the 1920's. By the 1930's many more had arrived, drawn by the opportunity for work in the tobacco district in southern Ontario. Father George Papp was sent from Rome in 1949 to take care of the Hungarian Catholic faithful, and he was joined in 1953 by Father Bela Nyika. For the first years, services were held in the Ukrainian Catholic Church in Delhi. The Magyar parish was established in Courtland in 1954 with Father Nyika as the first pastor, and the church was built in 1955/1956. The rectory was built in 1960.

Chapter 4 THE UKRAINIAN CATHOLIC CHURCH IN AUSTRALIA AND SOUTH AMERICA

Sts. Peter and Paul Cathedral – Melbourne

EPARCHY OF MELBOURNE OF STS. PETER AND PAUL for the Ukrainian Rite in Australia, New Zealand and Oceania

Historical Background

After World War II, between the years 1948 and 1950, about 18,000 Ukrainians immigrated to Australia as a result of the Communist occupation of their native land. Of these, an estimated 10,000 were Eastern rite Catholics. They came to work under contract, usually for two years, during which time the men were separated from their families. The Protestant communities were very active, and were successful in drawing a certain number of these Ukrainians into their churches. There was a great need for priests and spiritual assistance.

On September 26, 1949, Father Dmytro Kaczmar<sup>1</sup> from the Eparchy of Peremyśl, himself an immigrant who had been through Germany on the way to freedom, celebrated the first Divine Liturgy in the Eastern rite in Adelaide, having obtained permission [jurisdiction] from the Archbishop of Melbourne to celebrate. Another priest, Father Pavlo Smal, arrived in Sydney, but was refused jurisdiction because he was married. He went on to Melbourne where he was allowed temporary jurisdiction until he went to the United States in 1950. At the end of 1950, Father Ivan Praško arrived in Melbourne from Rome, where he had finished his studies and had been consultant to the Apostolic Visitor. He was destined to be the first eparch of Australia.

Appeals for more priests met with no result. Two Redemptorists from Canada, Fathers Franz Boskyj<sup>2</sup> and Nicholas Kopyakivsky<sup>3</sup> came to Sydney in the March of 1950, and celebrated the Easter Liturgy on April 9. Father Boskyj cared for the faithful in Newcastle until 1956, and also in Greta until a disastrous flood destroyed it in 1955. Father Kopyakivsky remained in Sydney until 1952, then went to Brisbane (1952-1956) and then to Newcastle to replace Father Boskyj (1956-1959).

Other priests also followed - Father George Spolitakevich, who arrived in 1952 and was in Melbourne and Perth until 1960 when he went to Canada, and Father Peter Diachyshyn who was in Sydney and Canberra from 1952 until August 4, 1962 when his life was cut prematurely short when his car was hit by a train at a railway crossing. Father Diachyshyn had been syncellus to Bishop Praško since 1959.

Father John Bowden, CSSR, an Australian by birth, received permission to become a brother in December, 1952. He was first assistant to Father Kopyakivsky in Newcastle until 1958, and then went to Melbourne where he was chancellor and later rector of the cathedral until he died on June 17, 1986.

On February 22, 1955 Father Nicola Ivanco, who had been just ordained in Rome, arrived in Melbourne to assist Father Praško. He later went to Perth (1958-1962) and then to Sydney where he remained until he died on January 4, 1982. On September 7, 1955, another Redemptorist, Father Stephen Maslo, arrived from Yorkton, Saskatchewan, to help Father Boskyj in Newcastle. He went to Brisbane in 1956 and remained there until he died on December 10, 1967.

Father Ivan Praško had the largest parish in Australia, which had been established under temporary jurisdiction in 1949 just before he arrived. In 1949 there were already about 4,500 Ukrainian Catholics in Victoria and Tasmania to be served by one priest. When he was appointed Apostolic Exarch of Australia and New Zealand on May 10, 1958, the parish was raised to the rank of cathedral, and he became eparch when the Eparchy of Australia, New Zealand and Oceania was established on June 24, 1982.

The role of religious communities in Australia has been important. The Australian and Canadian Provinces of the Congregation of the Most Holy Redeemer provided assistance which was crucial at the time when there was great need of pastoral care. The Basilian Sisters opened the Delegation of the Holy Family in Lidcombe, New South Wales in 1967, and now have 3 convents in Australia, one of which is a novitiate. Besides teaching krylos and Saturday classes they also help with the printing house.

Catholic organizations are very active. The Brotherhood and Sisterhood, both organized in 1951, have now 14 and 5 branches respectively in the eparchy.

In 1956, there were only 7 priests in Australia to serve many thousands of Ukrainian Catholics. Altogether 32 priests have served in the eparchy at one time or another, some for only a short period. At present [1987] there are 15 parishes and missions, with 12 priests to serve 23,152 people.

<sup>2</sup> Born in 1892 in Antwerp, Belgium, ordained in 1917 in Breda, Holland, went back to Canada in 1956 and died in Antwerp on March 18, 1967.

<sup>3</sup> Born in 1894 in Borščiv, ordained in 1927 in Peremyšl, went back to Canada in 1959 and died on August 1, 1968 in Newark, New Jersey, USA.

EPARQUIA SANTA MARÍA DEL PATROCINIO EN BUENOS AIRES DE LOS UCRANIOS

Historical Background

Ukrainian emigration to Argentina began in 1897 with the arrival of the first twelve Ukrainian families to Apóstoles. In the following years until World War I, several other families arrived in Apóstoles and to different localities in the province of Misiones. After the war they started coming again, especially in the years 1924 to 1930. Although they settled in other provinces, a considerable number remained in the city and in the province of Buenos Aires. Immigration was slowed down during the Depression and following period, and then a great wave of Ukrainian immigration came right after World War II. The people came predominantly from German displaced persons camps and settled in the larger cities, for the most part in Buenos Aires and in the surrounding area. Some of them later left Argentina and emigrated to the United States and to Canada, but most remained and settled in Argentina permanently.

Those who remained began to build chapels and churches and waited in the hope of obtaining priests to take care of their spiritual needs. The first chapel in Argentina was built in Las Tunas in c. 1900, and a second one was begun in 1905 and finished in 1908. Others were built in Tres Capones in 1905, and in Azara in 1908. The first Ukrainian Catholic priest who came to visit the people was Father Clemente Bzuchovskyj, OSBM, from Brazil. He came in the March of 1908 and in the October of the same year he returned to Brazil. On April 30, 1909 Father Jaroslav Karpiak arrived from Peremyśl, but on account of the climate he returned to Peremyśl in the October of 1910. Then on October 7, 1911, two priests from Stanislaviv, Fathers Ivan

Senyšyn<sup>1</sup> and Omeljan Ananevyč<sup>2</sup> came. Father Senyšyn settled in Apóstoles, and Father Ananevyč in Azara, both serving the surrounding colonies. In the November of 1917 Father Ananevyč left for Brazil, and Father Senyšyn remained alone in Apóstoles, taking care of ten mission places in Misiones: Azara, Tres Capones, Las Tunas, San José, Picada Galiciana, Picada Belgrano, Picada San Javier, Cerro Cora, Campinas and Bomplan.

In the June of 1922, Metropolitan Andrij Šeptyckyj, in the company of Fathers Ananevyč and Bžuchovskyj, made a visit to Apóstoles, Tres Capones, Azara and Las Tunas. In 1926 Father Senyšyn became seriously ill and went to the hospital in Buenos Aires where he died on October 14, 1926. On September 17, 1927, Father Stepan Vaprovyc<sup>3</sup> and Father Stepan Turčyn arrived from Stanislaviv. On account of the climate and his poor health, Father Turčyn returned to Stanislaviv after only one year. Father Vaprovyc then remained alone to take care of Misiones and of all Argentina with tens of thousands of people.

In 1934 in Buenos Aires and its vicinity alone there were close to 40,000 Ukrainians, and they were without any religious care.<sup>4</sup> Father Vaprovyc had visited Buenos Aires in 1930, invited by the Ukrainian community of Greater Buenos Aires to bless the newly built Ukrainian national home of Prosvita in Doc Sud. That the people built a national home and asked for a priest from Apóstoles, a thousand miles away, to come to bless it confirms without a doubt the considerable number of Ukrainian Catholics in Argentina, who were well organized, generous, and well disposed towards the Catholic faith and the clergy. After the blessing of the national home on May 25, 1930, Father Vaprovyc returned to Apóstoles and the people were again without a priest until he was able to come again to Buenos Aires for the International Eucharistic Congress in 1934. On April 4, 1935 he had to go back to Stanislaviv on account of his failing health. He promised to send another priest and even to return later himself, but neither was to happen. There were no priests to send, and after his health improved Father Vaprovyc was unable to come back on account of the war. However, before leaving Argentina he invited the Basilians from Brazil and left Apóstoles with all of its attended localities, and all of the Ukrainians in Argentina to their care.

The first Basilian, Father Januarij Kocylowskyj, had come from Brazil in the summer of 1934 to preach missions in Argentina, and he remained and took over the parish of Apóstoles when Father Vaprovyc left; he remained in Apóstoles until he died in 1937. Eventually other Basilians came to work among the Ukrainian people in Argentina – Father Ipatij Majka in 1936, Father Martyrij Kotovyč in 1938, Father Orest Dub in 1939, Father Evstachij Turkovyč in 1940, and gradually others from Brazil until 1947. In the March of 1940 Father Ipatij Maika opened a parish in Berisso took care of Buenos Aires from Berisso.

<sup>1</sup> Rev. Ivan Senyšyn was born in 1884 in Ljacke, pov. Dobromyl, ordained in 1910 in Stanislaviv, and died on October 14, 1926 in Buenos Aires.

<sup>2</sup> Rev. Omeljan Ananevyč was born in 1888, ordained in 1911 in Stanislaviv, was pastor in Dorizon, Pr., Brazil until 1938, when he went to the United States, where he became a Franciscan (Josaphat Ananevyč) in 1945. He died in Sybertsville, PA on May 3, 1964.

<sup>3</sup> Rev. Stepan Vaprovyc was born in 1899, ordained in 1926 in Stanislaviv, worked as a priest in Halyčyna and Lemkivščyna until interrupted by the communists. He worked as a carpenter in Siberia (1945–1950) and then in construction of bridges, etc. in Halyčyna until his death on March 2, 1964.

<sup>4</sup> It is very difficult to justify the lack of priests in Argentina and Brazil, when Halyčyna was overcrowded with clergy and vocations to the priesthood were being turned away because there were too many of them. Between 1929 and 1931 there were 114 students who finished their theological studies at the Greek Catholic Theological Academy of Lviv alone, and a number of them had to wait for ordination because there was no parish available for them. According to some of my colleagues, who were at the Academy at that time, missionary work was not promoted or even mentioned as a possibility.

In 1948 the Basilian Vice Province of Argentina was established, with the curia residence in Buenos Aires at their monastery at Curapaligue 730. The monastery chapel was used as the Ukrainian parish church until 1965, when the new church was built which later became the cathedral. The Basilians have a minor seminary and a novitiate in Apóstoles. In 1952 they purchased a place for a summer camp in Punta del Indio (Bs.As.) and built the camp, which was later sold to the PLAST organization.

After World War II, seven members of the secular clergy from Europe arrived and settled in Argentina - Fathers Jaroslav Zachariasevyč in Villa Caraza (the southwestern section of Greater Buenos Aires), Jaroslav Sirko in Ramos Mejía (western section), Ivan Baluk in San Martín, Villa Adelina (northwestern section), Nicolás Kunyckyj in Sarandí (southern section), Dmytro Poperečnyj in Cordova, Basilio Wynnyczuk in Bowen (Mendoza), and Hryhorij Skaskiv. Fathers Zachariasevyč, Sirko and Skaskiv were denied jurisdiction from the local Latin rite bishops because they were married, and after several years they left Argentina.

The Salesians of St. Don Bosco also began to arrive from Europe after the war - Fathers Stepan Czmił, Avhustyn Porodko, Gregorio Harasymowycz and Danilo Novak. One Franciscan came from the United States - Father Theodore Weneck. Seven Latin rite priests of Ukrainian nationality have transferred to the Eastern rite and are working in Argentina - Fathers Petro Holowatyj, SDB, Miguel Hrymach, Basilio Korol, SDB, Luis Glinka, OFM, Miguel Mykycej, FDP, Emilio Ryndycz and Dmytro Martyniuk, CDV. Father Livio Leonardi, a Latin rite Italian priest, Father Ivan Fiedorowicz, SDB and Father Héctor Zimmer-Balanda have also recently transferred to the Eastern rite.

In 1939 two Basilian sisters came from Europe and opened a convent in Apóstoles. In 1940 another sister came from United States, and in the same year a novitiate was opened in Apóstoles, which in 1944 was moved to Berisso. On March 13, 1952 the Catechists of Sacred Heart came from Brazil to work in Argentina. They settled at first in Apóstoles, but in the same year transferred to Oberá, Misiones, and in 1963 they settled in Encarnación, Paraguay. In 1965 the Sisters Servants of Mary Immaculate came from Brazil, settled in Buenos Aires and opened their motherhouse in Llavallol (Bs As) in 1969. The work of these dedicated sisters and catechists has been essential to the growth of the Ukrainian Catholic Church in Argentina.

The role of the laity, especially in a country with so few priests, cannot be denied or underestimated. In 1952 the Congress of Ukrainian Catholics in Argentina was held and one central organization of Ukrainian Catholics in Argentina was created.

On May 17, 1959 an Ordinariate for all Eastern Rite Catholics was created in Argentina with Archbishop Antonio Caggiano of Buenos Aires as Ordinary, and he appointed Father Josyf Halabarda, OSBM as his Vicar for Ukrainians. In 1961 a Ukrainian bishop, Most Rev. Andrés Sapelak, SDB was appointed as Visitor for Argentina. On February 9, 1968 he was appointed as Apostolic Exarch, and on April 24, 1978 he became Eparch when the Exarchate was raised to an Eparchy.

There has never been taken an accurate census of Ukrainian Catholics in Argentina, and because much of the country is still a missionary area, many of the faithful are not counted by the parishes as parishioners because they live too far from the pastoral centers. At present there are only 5 diocesan priests, 1 Franciscan, 1 Orionist, 4 Salesians and 10 Basilians to care for the entire country with many thousands of faithful.

1407 Buenos Aires (Bs.As.) tel: (01) 67-4192

Rector: Very Rev. Gregorio Harasymowycz [Григорій Гарасимович], SDB, since 1971.

Assistant Pastor: Rev. Basilio Korol [Василь Король], SDB, since 1976.

Historical data: Ukrainians began to arrive in Buenos Aires as early as 1897, but most of them went on to settle in Misiones and other provinces in Argentina. Not until after World War I was there a sizeable community, and the first Divine Liturgy was celebrated on May 25, 1930 by Father Ivan Vaprovych, who was invited by the Prosvita Society to bless their first national home in the Dock Sud district of Buenos Aires. He came again to Buenos Aires for the Eucharistic Congress of 1934 and celebrated a liturgy for all of the Ukrainians from the surrounding area, and in his recount of the event, he reported that he had found there approximately 40,000 Ukrainians without a priest.

Father Vaprovych left his parish in Apóstoles to the Basilians in 1935 and went back to Halyčyna to try to find priests who would be willing to go to with him to Argentina. However it was difficult to find volunteers, and in the meanwhile World War II broke out. While he was in Halyčyna, the parish in Berisso was established by the Basilian Fathers in 1940, and the priests from Berisso served the faithful in Buenos Aires whenever they could, celebrating the liturgy in Santísimo Sacramento Latin rite Church. The first Divine Liturgy in this church was celebrated on January 25, 1942. In 1949 another parish was organized in another part of Greater Buenos Aires - in Haedo (Ramos Mejía) by Father Stepan Czmił, SDB.

In 1947 Father Jorge Melnyczyn, OSBM, arrived in Argentina from Halyčyna, and he began to organize a parish in Buenos Aires. In the same year he was joined by two other Basilians, Fathers Vladimiro Kovalyk and Miguel Tarsicio Ivanyshyn and in 1949 Father Isidore Patrylo also came. The Basilian Vice-Province of Argentina was created on July 23, 1948, and the residence of the Curia was purchased and blessed on October 10, 1948. A parish was established in 1948, and the chapel of the Basilian residence served as a parish church [St. Basil the Great] until the present church was built by Father Josyf Halabarda in 1960/1964.

After the church building was completed, the Apostolic Visitor, Most Rev. Andrés Sapelak, became pastor on January 1, 1965, and he finished the interior furnishing and decoration. When the Exarchate was established on February 9, 1968, the church became the cathedral. It was blessed by His Beatitude, Josyf Cardinal Slipyj, on September 7/8, 1968. A Salesian monastery was canonically established at the cathedral residence in 1978, and the parish was entrusted to the Salesians.

The Gregorian calendar is in use.

EPARQUIA DE SÃO JOÃO BATISTA PARA OS UCRANIANOS NO BRASIL

Historical Background

The first Ukrainian immigrants began to arrive in Brazil in the 1890's - at first unorganized, then in a large group in 1895, and afterwards in increasing numbers continuously year after year. They had to wait in Rio de Janeiro, São Paulo, Prudentópolis and other places - men, women and children in barracks in most unhealthy conditions, sometimes for several months and even sometimes for over a year, until they finally obtained a piece of land in the Brazilian jungles. They built their farms with hardship, sometimes in danger of their lives on account of the indigenous peoples, who in the region of Santa Catarina (Iracema, Moema and Costa Carvalho) in 1895/1896 alone killed about 30 Ukrainians. Almost everyone obtained his plot of land in the states of Paraná and Santa Catarina and settled there. In 1896/1897, over 15,000 Ukrainians arrived in Paraná, and others received pieces of land at the same time in Santa Catarina.

Surrounded by people of different languages and of different rite, they tried to obtain priests who spoke the Ukrainian language and celebrated according to their own Byzantine Kyivan rite. They could obtain those priests only from their native country, so in 1895 they turned to the head of the Ukrainian Catholic Church living in Halyčyna, the Major Archbishop of Lviv and Metropolitan of Halyč, Sylvester Cardinal Sembratovyč. The first letter went to Lviv from Rio Claro, Paraná, and the next letter went on January 25, 1897 with 70 signatures from Inspetor Carvalho, near Prudentópolis, Paraná. At that time in Prudentópolis and the surrounding region there were approximately 8,000 Ukrainians.

The first priests to respond to the request were two diocesan priests, Father Mykola Mychalevyč and Father Nikon Rozdolskyj<sup>1</sup>. They came in the summer of 1896, and in November/December Father Ivan Volanskyj was sent by Metropolitan Sembratovyč, but only for an official visit and examination of the situation. Father Mychalevyč could not obtain permission to remain from the Latin hierarchy because he was married, so he returned to his native Halyčyna. Father Rozdolskyj was a childless widower, so Father Volanskyj was able to get permission for him to remain in Brazil and work as a priest among the Ukrainian people.

The next priest who was sent from Halyčyna to Brazil was Father Sylvester Kizyma, OSBM<sup>2</sup>. He arrived on July 7, 1897 in Prudentópolis, which with the surrounding colonies became the main center of his pastoral activity. On September 4, 1898, a second Basilian arrived – Father Antin Martyniuk<sup>3</sup>, and on November 21, 1900 a third arrived – Father Mytrofan Michnjak<sup>4</sup>, but in 1902 all three left Brazil and returned to Halyčyna.

The Basilian provincial superior of Halyčyna sent a circular letter around to his monasteries urging volunteers for Brazil. Three priests responded to the appeal in 1902, Fathers Clemente Bžuchovskyy<sup>5</sup>, Myron Chmilovskyy and Markian Škirpan<sup>6</sup>, and a brother-carpenter – Havryjil Stepan Budnyj. Father Chmilovskyy returned to Halyčyna in 1905 and brother Budnyj in 1925, but the two other priests remained in Brazil until their deaths. To help them two more Basilians came in 1905, two in 1910, two in 1913, two in 1922, one in 1926, one in 1929 and one in 1931.

The General Curia created a Basilian vice-province in Brazil and a novitiate in Prudentópolis on December 6, 1931. In 1948 the vice-province became a province, and in the same year the novitiate was transferred to Ivaí. The vice province opened the minor seminary in Prudentópolis in 1935, and the major seminary in Iracema in 1942. The major seminary was variously located in Iracema, Prudentópolis, Ivaí and Curitiba until 1969 when the permanent seminary was built in Curitiba.

After the death of Father Rozdolskyj in 1906, only two diocesan priests from Halyčyna came to replace him – Father Petro Osinchuk to Ivaí in 1911, and Father Petro Prockiv to Dorizon/Mallet in 1912. Father Omeljan Ananevyč came from Argentina as an assistant to Father Prockiv in Dorizon in 1918. All three of these priests were unmarried. Fathers Prockiv and Osinchuk worked in Brazil until their deaths, but Father Ananevyč left in 1939 for the United States. No other diocesan clergy could be induced to come, partly because many were married and would not have been accepted by the Latin rite hierarchy, and partly for a lack of missionary spirit to dedicate themselves to a life of sacrifice in Brazil or an even harder life in Argentina. It became obvious that the diocesan clergy would have to be educated in Brazil itself.

Just before World War II, three Brazilian born Ukrainians were educated at the Pontifical Ukrainian Seminary of Saint Josaphat in Rome, and they returned to Brazil to work among the Ukrainian Catholics in their native land. After World War II several other Brazilian born priests joined them, especially after the Eparchial Minor Seminary for the secular clergy was opened in Mallet in 1959, and the Eparchial Major Seminary was opened in Curitiba in 1972.

Of immense help to the priests in maintaining and strengthening the Catholic faith among Ukrainians in Brazil were the Ukrainian Catholic sisters. The first sisters to work among the Ukrainians in Brazil were the Sisters Servants of Mary Immaculate. Seven of them came from Halyčyna in April of 1911; four of these settled in Prudentópolis, and three in Iracema. In 1915 they opened a novitiate in Prudentópolis and began in time to increase and expand their work. They taught religion on weekday evenings after school hours, on Saturdays and Sundays, and for full days during the January vacation time. They especially did their apostolic work on distant farms where they went and lived during the teaching months, also visiting and helping the sick. In the larger centers they opened regular elementary day schools and they also have opened two secondary schools, the tuition of which helps to finance their other apostolates. Their example was later followed by other sisters who founded religious communities in Brazil or came from Ukrainian settlements in other countries.

The first of the other sisters who began work among the Ukrainians in Brazil were the Sisters Catechists of Sant' Ana, founded by Father Omeljan Ananevych in Mallet, Paraná in 1932. The next were the Sisters of St. Joseph who came from Canada and opened their first convent in Linha Vitória, Paraná in 1971. Soon after, the Basilian Sisters came from Argentina and opened a convent in Canoinhas, Santa Catarina in 1973.

Besides those sisters, in 1940 the Institute of Catechists of the Sacred Heart was founded in Prudentópolis by Father Cristóforo Myskiv, OSBM. They are not a religious congregation as such, but a group of dedicated women who are trained to give catechetical instruction, and are able to reach places normally inaccessible to sisters. They are active now also in Argentina and Paraguay.

Of great help in maintaining the Catholic faith among the Ukrainians of Brazil have been the three main religious organizations of adults, of youth and of children, founded and supported actively by all the priests and sisters. The principal organization for the adults is the Apostleship of Prayer, which exists in almost every Ukrainian Catholic community in Brazil, in some places for men and women separately and in other places for men and women together. The youth are organized in Marian sodalities, and the children in the Knights of Holy Eucharist.

Since the priests celebrate the Divine Liturgies in numerous different attended filial churches, they often cannot come to every place on every Sunday, but once a month or sometimes only once in two or three months. When the priest does not come, the people get together in their churches for prayer in common. If there is not a sister available, the members of the Apostleship of Prayer lead the people in reciting different prayers and/or in different parts of some liturgical services together, in this way keeping the spiritual cohesion of the Ukrainian community.

The printed word has contributed greatly to the preservation and growth of the Catholic faith among Ukrainians in Brazil. In 1910 the Basilians opened a printing house which in 1910-1911 published the bi-weekly Catholic journal "Траноп" in Curitiba. Afterwards in Prudentópolis they initiated the publication of the monthly journal "Український Місіонар в Бразилії", which is still being issued. On December 22, 1912, they began printing a bi-weekly newspaper "Праця", which since 1915 has been published every week. In 1921 they began the annual "Календар Праці", which is still being published. Besides these periodicals, there have been continuously printed prayerbooks, catechisms, collections of religious and popular national songs and different books and booklets on religious subjects.

In 1952 Ukrainians, together with other Catholics of oriental rite, were removed from the jurisdiction of different Latin rite bishops of Brazil and subordinated to one bishop, Archbishop Jaime Cardinal de Barros Camara of Rio de Janeiro, with Father Clemente Preíma as vicar general for the "Ruthenian" faithful of Byzantine rite in Brazil. In 1958 Father José Martenetz, OSBM was made auxiliary bishop to Cardinal de Barros Camara for "Ruthenian and Ukrainian" faithful.

In 1962 the exarchate was established with Bishop Martenetz as exarch, and in 1971 the exarchate was raised to the "Eparchy of São João Batista em Curitiba" with Bishop Martenetz as the first eparch. Since his resignation on March 10, 1978, Bishop Efraim Krevey, OSBM has been eparch.

THE UKRAINIAN CATHOLIC CHURCH IN WESTERN AND CENTRAL EUROPE

St. Volodymyr the Great Cathedral - Paris

EXARCHATE OF FRANCE, BENELUX AND SWITZERLAND

France

The Ukrainian immigration to France began after the Ukrainian defeat at the battle at Poltava (1709). One of the immigrants, Hryhorij Orlyk, son of the exiled Hetman Pylyp Orlyk, even became fieldmarshal of France. This Mazepine immigration was absorbed however, and disappeared. By the middle of the 19th century there were again a number of Ukrainian immigrants in France, indicated by the fact that the Ukrainian Catholic priest Ipolyt Terleckyj acquired a church for them at 69, Rue de Babilon in Paris and blessed it on January 30 1852. With time the people and that church also disappeared.

After World War I, several Ukrainians came to work in France, for the most part only temporarily. To take care of those workers, especially those who intended to stay permanently, a Ukrainian mission was established by Metropolitan Šeptyckyj in 1937, and Father Jakiv Perridon<sup>1</sup> was sent to take care of it. The services in Paris were held in Latin rite churches and chapels until 1942 when Father Perridon obtained the present church of St. Volodymyr. It had been built by the Monks of St. John as the chapel of "l'Hôpital Charité" in 1613/1620. During the revolution the monks were suppressed and the hospital was turned into a medical school, the chapel being used as a conference hall. Father Perridon requested the chapel for use as a church for Ukrainians, and obtained it from the university. The first services were celebrated in it on Christmas Day, 1942, with Father Ivan Leskovyč as co-celebrant. In 1943 Father Perridon added an iconostas and the church was blessed.

<sup>1</sup> Father Jakiv Franz Perridon, born in 1900, ordained in 1928, rector of the Ukrainian Catholic Minor Seminary in Lviv until 1937, pastor in Paris until 1952, vicar general in France (1946-1952), and vicar general in the Netherlands (1952-1956). Died on September 1, 1965.

During and after World War II, many Ukrainian Catholics and several Ukrainian Catholic priests for different reasons found themselves in France. In 1946, Bishop Ivan Bučko became Apostolic Visitor for Western Europe with rights of Administrator, and in the same year he appointed Father Perridon as his Vicar for France. Some of the people and priests moved on with time to other countries, but a considerable number remained and pastoral centers were organized for them.

In 1954, an Ordinariate for Eastern Rite Catholics [including Ukrainians] was created in France with the Archbishop of Paris as Ordinary. In 1960 a separate Apostolic Exarchate was created for Ukrainian Catholics with Bishop Volodymyr Malanczuk, CSSR, as their first Exarch. He was succeeded in 1982 by Bishop Mychajlo Hrynychshyn, CSSR, with additional jurisdiction over Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg and Switzerland. These countries, for the years 1946 to 1982 had had Apostolic Visitors – Most Rev. Ivan Bučko until 1971, and after him Most Rev. Myroslav Stefan Marusyn from 1972 until 1982.

An important event in the history of the eparchy was the foundation of the Ukrainian Catholic Minor Seminary in Loury, near Lorraine in the south of France in 1951. Cardinal Eugene Tisserant from Rome and Apostolic Nuncio Roncalli (later Pope John XXIII) from Paris came for the blessing of this seminary. This seminary was transferred in 1956 to Castelgandolfo, Italy, and then in 1959 to its new building in Rome, where it still is at present.

Another important event was the building of a Ukrainian Catholic Church in Lourdes with a hostel for pilgrims by Fathers Wasyl Pryjma and Pavlo Kohut, with financial help from the people of the Ukrainian Diaspora in many countries. Annual pilgrimages to Lourdes are organized and supported by bishops, clergy and people who come from all over the world.

Benelux and Switzerland

Before World War II there were not many Ukrainians in Belgium; mostly they were students studying at University of Louvain. During the war and especially after the war, they began to come in considerable numbers, enlisted from various DP camps in Germany to work in Belgium, chiefly in the mines. At first they were taken care of by the Belgian Redemptorists of Byzantine rite, and later also by the Ukrainian secular clergy, some of whom came to Belgium after the war for periods of varying durations. The Redemptorists helped an untold number of Ukrainians who fled their native country after the war – displaced persons from the camps, religious who had been dispersed, orphans, etc. They tried to provide them with temporary refuge in Belgium, and in some cases, especially the orphans, to find them a new home in Canada or the United States. The Ukrainian people will be eternally grateful to them for their charity in a time of great need.

Eventually, many of the people and clergy went on to other countries. At present there are in Belgium around 2,500 Ukrainian Catholics scattered in five provinces, each with one or two pastoral centers – the Province of Charleroi with Charleroi as center, the Province of Liège with <sup>2</sup> Father Ivan Leskovyč, born December 1, 1913 in Lviv, ordained on July 25, 1937 in Beauplaueau, Belgium, pastoral work in France (1937-1953), chancellor in France (1947-1953), chancellor in Germany (1953-1962), and pastor in Hamburg (1962-1980). Died on January 23, 1981 in Hamburg.

Liège as center, the Province of Limbourg with Genk as center, the Province of Borinage with Hornu and Wasmes as centers and the Province of Oseredna/Hainaut with La Louvière and Strepv as centers. There is also a center in Bruxelles/Louvain, but with only a small number of people.

Thanks to "Obnova", an intellectual and student organization, which has existed in Louvain since before World War II, the Ukrainian Christian Movement in Louvain had its beginning after the war, and the Movement held its first World Congress in Louvain on May 31, 1955. The St. Sophia Religious Association has two organizations and two houses in Belgium, one in Liège and the other in Genk.

Ukrainian Catholics have also settled within the exarchate in Switzerland, the Netherlands and Luxembourg, but in smaller numbers, and with less frequent or irregular church services.

EXARCHATE OF GERMANY AND SCANDINAVIA

Historical Background

The Ukrainian migration to Germany began before World War I with seasonal workers, and after the war several political emigrants settled in Germany as well as students who came for temporary study. Between 1908 and 1926 they were attended by priests sent from Lviv on a fairly regular basis - Fathers Oleksa Baziuk, Leontij Kunyckyj, Mychajlo Kindij and others. Then in 1927, Metropolitan Andrij Šeptyckyj appointed Father Petro Werhun<sup>1</sup> to take care of all Ukrainians in Germany. Father Werhun resided in Berlin and traveled around Germany to take care of the scattered people. In 1939/1940 the situation changed, and several thousand Ukrainians and also several priests from the Western Ukraine fled to Germany from the part of Ukraine which was occupied in 1939 by the Soviet Union.

Until 1939 Father Werhun had been under the jurisdiction of Lviv. When communication with Lviv was interrupted, he asked for instructions from Rome as to what to do. For the sake of order, the Sacred Congregation for the Oriental Church nominated him Apostolic Visitor with rights of Administrator on November 23, 1940. Within the next few years, as workers began to be brought to Germany forcibly, the number of Ukrainian people increased to such an extent that in 1943 there were created five deaneries:

- Ost (Father Omeljan Stasiuk as protopresbyter)
- Mitte (Father Mykola Wojakowskyj as protopresbyter)
- Sud (Father Wolodymyr Malanczuk, CSSR as protopresbyter)
- Nord-West and Ostmark

<sup>1</sup> Father Petro Werhun, born on November 18, 1890 in Horodok (Lviv) ordained on October 30, 1927 in Lviv, pastoral work in and from Berlin (1927-1940), Apostolic Administrator in Germany (1940-1945), arrested on June 11, 1945 and deported to Siberia. Died on February 7, 1957 in Anhar, Siberia.

On June 16, 1944 Father Werhun wrote to the Holy Father that in Germany there were several hundred thousand Ukrainian Catholics with 27 priests taking care of them. On February 2, 1945, Visitor/Administrator Werhun appointed Father Mykola Wojakowskyj<sup>2</sup> as vice visitor. Father Wojakowskyj took over on June 21, 1945 after Father Werhun was arrested by the Soviets and sent to Siberia.

In 1946 Bishop Ivan Bučko became Apostolic Visitor with rights of Administrator for all Ukrainians in Western Europe. He nominated Father Wojakowskyj as his vicar general, and when Father Wojakowskyj left for the United States in 1949, he was succeeded by Father Petro Holynskyj<sup>3</sup>. On April 17, 1959 an Apostolic Exarchate was established for Ukrainians in Germany and Father Platon Kornyljak was appointed and consecrated as its first exarch.

It is hard to say how many Ukrainians were in Germany at the end of World War II. However, at that time there were over 300 priests taking care of approximately 240 localities. Within the next two years, some of them were forced to return to the Soviet Union, but many others remained and were placed in Displaced Persons' Camps, from which most of them, priests included, emigrated to different countries. Others however remained in Germany for different reasons, but their number is hard to establish, because they are scattered all over Germany. In 1986 there were twenty parishes which rather should be called pastoral centers, from which priests take care of the people scattered in different localities, towns and villages.

At the end of World War II there were Basilians, Redemptorists, Studite Monks and Studite Nuns in Germany, but they have emigrated. To help the bishop and priests in their work, the Ukrainian Sisters Servants of Mary Immaculate came to Germany in 1963 and the Basilian Sisters came in 1981.

Historical data: Between 1908 and 1926 Ukrainian seasonal workers and students in Germany were visited from time to time by priests sent from Lviv. Fathers Oleksa Baziuk, Leontij Kunyckyj, Mychajlo Kindij and others were sent at various times during this period to minister to the spiritual needs of the faithful. Then in 1927, Metropolitan Andrij Šeptyckyj appointed Father Petro Werhun to take care of all Ukrainians in Germany, with a permanent residence in Berlin. In 1940, when more people and priests came to Germany on account of the war, Father Werhun was made Apostolic Administrator for Germany to take care of the growing Ukrainian population. Father Iwan Kiedrowskyj was appointed as consultor/econome and Father Ometjan Stasiuk was consultor in the new administration. Father Iwan Czornjak was Vicar General and administrator of the parish in Berlin (1941-1942), and Father Petro Romanyszyn was first made assistant pastor in Berlin (1941-1942) and then administrator (1942-1944).

The situation in Berlin during and after World War II was most unsettled and dangerous, as it was in most of central and eastern Europe. In 1945 Father Werhun was imprisoned by the Russians and sent to Siberia. Most of the Ukrainian faithful fled from Berlin and the parish was temporarily closed.

APOSTOLIC EXARCHATE FOR UKRAINIAN CATHOLICS IN GREAT BRITAIN

Historical Background

The first Ukrainians came to Great Britain at the beginning of the 20th century before World War I as workers in and around Manchester, and remained permanently. They were visited in 1920/1921 by Metropolitan Andriy Šeptyckyj, in 1935 by Father Josyf Slipyj, then rector of the Greek Catholic Theological Academy of Lviv, and before World War II by Father Jakiv Perridon from Paris. They were also served occasionally between the two World Wars by the Redemptorist Fathers from Belgium.

Massive Ukrainian immigration began in 1946/1950. The immigrants came partly from German displaced persons' camps and from the demobilized Polish Anderson Army Corps, but most of the present Ukrainians came when the demobilized Ukrainian Halyčyna Division was transferred to England from Rimini, Italy in 1947.

Four chaplains of the demobilized army came to Great Britain in 1947 - Fathers Oleksander Babij<sup>1</sup>, Emanuil Korduba<sup>2</sup>, Oleksander Markevyč<sup>3</sup> and Mychailo Ratushynskyj. Fathers Volodymyr Dzioba and Petro Diačyšyn came from Rome, Father Justyn Hirniak came from Germany and Father Josaphat Jean, OSBM came from Canada. Within the next few years other priests arrived, sent by Bishop/Archbishop Ivan Bučko<sup>4</sup>, under whose jurisdiction Great Britain was until 1956. He administered Great Britain by his vicar generals, Fathers Volodymyr Malanczuk, CSSR<sup>5</sup> (1949-1950) and Oleksander Malynovskyj<sup>6</sup> (1950-1957).

In 1956, the Archbishop of Westminster, William Cardinal Godfrey, was appointed by Rome as Ordinary (1957-1963) and he administered the Ukrainian parishes through his vicar generals - Father Malynovskyj until his unexpected death in 1957 and then Father Pavlo Maluga, CSSR (1957-1952). In 1961, Father Augustine Hornyak, OSBM, was nominated by Rome as Auxiliary to the Archbishop of Westminster and on April 19, 1963 he was appointed as Apostolic Exarch for Ukrainian Catholics in Great Britain.

In 1975 there were in the Exarchate 14 parishes with 13 churches and the cathedral in London. In 1976 many parishes of the Exarchate split in a controversy over the Patriarchal question. All but two of the priests and all of the churches and parishes, with the exception of one (which became only a mission) remained with Bishop Hornyak. The majority of the faithful however, in favor of the Patriarchate, left the churches and parishes, and Father Mykola Matyczak took care of these people, with the help of priests from Rome during the Christmas and Easter seasons. In mid November, 1978, Father Ewhen Harabatsch arrived from Germany and remained with them until November 1983, serving the south and part of middle England, which he attended from his residence in London. At the end of 1981, Father Josaphat Lescesen arrived from Yugoslavia and took care of the parishes in central England from 1982 until 1987. When Father Harabatsch left, south England was divided between Fathers Matyczak and Lescesen. In the years 1983-1987 during the Christmas and Easter seasons, various other priests came to take care of the separated people - Fathers Mychajlo Pryszlak, SDB (rector of the Pontifical Ukrainian Minor Seminary in Rome) and Father Severian Yakymyshyn, OSBM (general economo of the Basilian Order and superior of the General Curia House in Rome).

<sup>1</sup> Born on May 12, 1908 in Sosniv, pov. Pidhajci, ordained on June 18, 1933 in Lviv by Bishop Nykyta Budka. Assistant pastor in Mohylnyca, pov. Terebovlja (1934), pastor in Pacykiv, pov. Dolyna (1935-1942), army chaplain in the Halyčyna Division (1943-1949), pastoral work in Edinburgh (1947-1951) and in Rochdale (1952-1969). Retired in 1970 and died on October 3, 1984 in Wolverhampton.

<sup>2</sup> Army chaplain of the Halyčyna Division (1943-1947), pastoral work in Cambridge (1949) and in Manchester (1960-1953). Died on January 4, 1953 in Manchester.

<sup>3</sup> Army chaplain of the Halyčyna Division (1943-1947), pastoral work in Nottingham (1948), Edinburgh (1952-1953), in the London area (1956-1960) and in Bolton (1962-1964). Died on May 25, 1964 in Manchester.

<sup>4</sup> Bishop [later Archbishop] Ivan Bučko was appointed by Rome as Apostolic Visitor with rights of Administrator (1946-1972) for Western Europe, with jurisdiction over all countries until independent ordinaries were appointed for separate countries. Eventually, separate ordinaries (exarchs) were appointed for England, France and Germany.

<sup>6</sup> Born on January 12, 1889 in Žukiv, pov. Zoločiv, ordained in 1925 in Lviv by Metropolitan Andrij Šeptyckyj. Prefect and vice-rector of the Greek Catholic Theological Academy, Lviv (1926-1937), pastoral work in Lemkivščyna (1940-1945), rector of the Ukrainian Catholic Seminary, Hirschberg/Culemborg (1946-1950) and vicar general in London (1950-1957). Died on November 18, 1957 in Bradford. Mitred Archbishop.

In 1987 Bishop Hornyak resigned, and Bishop Michael Hrynchyshyn, the Apostolic Exarch for Ukrainian Catholics in France and Benelux, was appointed as Apostolic Administrator for all Ukrainian Catholics in Great Britain on November 27, 1987. The division of the Ukrainian Catholic faithful was thus technically resolved and hopefully the healing process has begun.

In January, 1988, there was a considerable regrouping of the parishes and the localities served, with transfer of pastors and reuniting of congregations. The following section on the Church in Great Britain is based on information from January, 1988. The outline of the pastoral districts has made note of the changes, but the state of affairs in Great Britain is still in a state of transition as the book goes to press.

DELEGATURE FOR THE FAITHFUL OF EASTERN RITE IN POLAND

Historical Background

In 1944, by the treaty of Yalta, part of the territory of the Eparchy of Peremyśl and the whole Apostolic Administration of Lemkivščyna came under Polish domination and most of the Ukrainians were forced in 1947 to leave their native villages and cities and go to the Soviet Union. Some succeeded to remain in hiding however, mostly in the forests during the period of forced evacuation. After a while, they returned to their homes, but nearly immediately there was another deportation, this time to the northern and western territories of Poland, scattered on former German territories, which Poland had obtained by the Yalta agreement and from which the German population had been evacuated.

Most of the priests had been removed along with the people to the Soviet Union in 1947. Whoever was able to hide himself and remain was displaced during the second evacuation and denied permission to celebrate the Divine Liturgy in the Byzantine rite. Those who were able to do so celebrated in Latin rite churches and chapels as Latin rite assistants or chaplains, and only after ten years in 1957 did they again begin to celebrate in the Byzantine rite for the Ukrainian people in Poland.

Gradually, in different regions, Byzantine rite mission stations were organized, where people were (and still are) attending services from the surrounding area, sometimes coming from considerable distances. The priests obtained the necessary jurisdiction from the Archbishop of Warsaw, Stefan Cardinal Wyszyński, who had been nominated by Rome as Special Delegate of the Holy See for Eastern Rite Catholics in Poland on February 4, 1949. With this slight religious freedom, nearly all the Ukrainian Catholic secular priests began take care of their own people, as did the Basilian Fathers. Gradually the Basilian Sisters, the Sisters Servants of Mary Immaculate and the Josephite Sisters began to reemerge to assist the faithful by their active apostolates.

In 1969 a seminary was opened in Lublin, from which new priests were ordained to care for the Ukrainian Catholics in Poland. At first these priests were ordained by Cardinal Wyszyński and Latin rite bishops, but since 1982 by Ukrainian bishops coming from outside of Poland especially for the purpose of ordaining them.

The Peremyśl Chapter was completed with the consent of Cardinal Wyszyński, and new members were elected by the Chapter and approved by the cardinal.

Cardinal Wyszyński directed religious matters of Ukrainian Catholics through vicar generals appointed by him - Father Wasyl Hrynyk, who held the position until his death on May 31, 1977, then Father Stefan Dziubyna, and members of the Peremyśl Chapter. When Cardinal Wyszyński died, the Peremyśl Chapter tried to elect a temporary "Chapter Vicar", but was unable to come to an agreement, so they turned to His Beatitude Josyf Cardinal Slipyj, who as Metropolitan of Halyč and Archbishop of Lviv, appointed Father Stefan Dziubyna as "Vicar Capitularis" on November 3, 1981. Soon afterwards Bishop Józef Glemp was appointed as the new Archbishop of Warsaw and Delegate for Eastern Rite Catholics, and on December 22, 1981 he appointed not one, but two vicar generals for Ukrainian Catholics, - Father Iwan Martyniak for the two southern deaneries (Peremyśl and Wrocław) and Father Josafat Romanyk, OSBM for the two northern deaneries (Koszalin and Olsztyn).

Holy Trinity Cathedral - Križevci

EPARCHY OF KRIŽEVCI

Escaping from Turkish domination and oppression, faithful of the Byzantine rite settled in the territory of present day Yugoslavia in the 15th and 16th centuries. One group settled east of Zagreb, near the place where the monastery of Marča was founded, and another group settled west of Zagreb in the mountainous region of Žumberak, later known as Monte Felletrio. They were known under different names, such as Wallachs, Serbians, Rusciann and Uskoci (those running away). Their ethnicity is a matter of discussion, but probably they were of mixed ethnic origins. With time they became and are presently known as Croatsians. Those around Marča had an Orthodox bishop and one of them, Simeon Vratanja (1611-1632), under the influence of Catholic surroundings went to Rome in 1611 and accepted union with Rome. When he returned, he and his successors lived in the Monastery of Marča and as bishops were known as the Bishops of Marča, later also as Bishops of Svidnik or of Platea<sup>1</sup>.

Although Bishop Simeon Vratanja accepted union, those in Monte Felletri did not. The emperor and the Sacred Congregation for Propaganda Fide sent a Ukrainian Basilian monk, Metodij Terleckyj, who later became Bishop of Cholm, to bring Monte Felletri to union. They joined, but without clear dependence, and only by Bishop Paul Zorčić was the situation finally straightened out and Monte Felletri definitively joined to his See.

<sup>1</sup> The third Bishop of Marča, Gabriel Predojevič, obtained the title of Bishop of Svidnik from Vienna with his nomination, and then the bishops residing in Marča were called "Bishops of Svidnik" until 1777. This title was not recognized by Rome, since a See with the name of Svidnik did not exist. The 7th bishop, Paul Zorčić (1671-1685) was given the title of Bishop of Platea by Rome, and this title was also used until 1777.

Notwithstanding the small number of faithful<sup>2</sup>, in 1777 the eparchy of Križevci was established, thanks probably to the social influence of Bishop Vasilije Božičković (1759-1785) at Maria Theresa's Court, and also to the fact that the Ruthenians of the Bačka region<sup>3</sup> were added to form an eparchy together with the Croatians.

The Ruthenians/Ukrainians in present Yugoslavia were immigrants who were looking for land and who had taken the risk and opportunity of settling on territory which currently belonged to the Austrian-Hungarian Monarchy, and which was scarcely populated, being on the border with Turkish territory. The Bačka region could be considered the first major settlement of Byzantine Kyivan rite people in diaspora, outside their native territory. The Ruthenians, who for many centuries used that name and in Bačka prefer to use it now, came to Bačka in the middle of the 18th century from the Transcarpathian Mountains and settled in Ruski Krstur (in c.1746), in Kucura (in c.1763) and in other neighboring localities about the same time. They were served by priests from the Eparchy of Mukačiv. Those people in Yugoslavia who prefer to be called Ukrainians came mostly from Halyčyna in the years 1896-1914, and settled in Bosnja and Slavonija, and their priests came from the Archeparchy of Lviv. They obtained for a short time their own Apostolic Administrator, Father Oleksa Bazluk (1914-1924).

In 1923 the jurisdiction of the Eparchy of Križevci was extended by Rome over all Byzantine rite Catholics on Yugoslavian territory, which added about 15,000 Ukrainians of Bosnja and Slavonija<sup>4</sup> to its jurisdiction. To the Križevci Eparchy in 1923 were also added the Macedonians living in the Yugoslavian part of Macedonia (c.5,000) and the Romanians living in two villages in Banat (c.643).

Notwithstanding many difficulties the Eparchy of Križevci keeps its own seminary in Zagreb, founded by Bishop Paul Zorčić in 1682. The students follow courses at the Theological Faculty of Zagreb. The Basilian Fathers have had a monastery and parish in Kula since 1957. The Basilian Sisters in 1915 established a Croatian vice-province with residence in Križevci, and in 1920 established a Ukrainian province in Osijek. The Sisters Servants of Mary Immaculate have had a province with residence in Vrbas since 1906.

Because of the complexity of the ethnic composition of Byzantine rite Catholics in Yugoslavia, it is difficult to give a comprehensive survey of the Eparchy of Križevci. This is especially so for parishes in which the congregation is mixed and in which the pastor is sometimes of one nationality and sometimes of another. All of the parishes have therefore been put in alphabetical order, noting however the nationality [or nationalities] of the parishioners and also the language of the sermons if the information was available. The nationality of the priests is also included on their personal entries if they are Croatian, Macedonian or Romanian - otherwise it is understood that they are either Ruthenian or Ukrainian.

<sup>2</sup> There seems not to have been a sizeable Byzantine Catholic population, or else the number of faithful diminished over the years, because according to the statistics published in 1974 by the Oriental Congregation in "Oriente Cristiano" their number (in 1974, after over 300 years of existence) was given as only 11,500 faithful.

<sup>3</sup> Ruski Krstur, Kucura and other smaller localities, who in 1974 counted about 29,000 faithful.

<sup>4</sup> This figure is for 1930, but after World War II many Ukrainians emigrated, a considerable number going to Australia. According to "Oriente Cristiano" of 1974, there were c.12,500 Ukrainian Catholics in Yugoslavia.

Historical Background

It is difficult to say with precision when monasticism began on Ukrainian territory, but it is fairly certain that monasteries existed before the foundation of Pečerska Lavra. In the Rus' Primary Chronicle of Nestor it is stated that when Teodosij decided to become a monk he went around visiting several monasteries and finally joined Antonij who lived alone in a cave which had formerly been inhabited by Ilarion, who had become Metropolitan of Kyiv in 1051. Teodosij and Antonij co-founded Pečerska Lavra, which became the prototype of monastic life in the Metropolitanate of Kyiv. The monasteries could not be said to be of any religious order. Monasteries in the East, in contrast to those in the West, were not centralized as religious orders. There does not exist any copy of the rules which monasteries in the Kyivan Metropolitanate followed before 1617. At the time of the Union of Berestja, in the Kyivan Metropolitanate, there were only single, separate monasteries – each under the jurisdiction of its respective hierarch, each following its own individual interpretation of monastic life.

Josyf Veljamin Rutskyj began to reorganize monastic life when he became archimandrite of Holy Trinity Monastery in Vilno in 1609. In 1617, as Metropolitan of Kyiv, he called together all of the monasteries he had reorganized, took them from the jurisdiction of the bishops and made them subject only to himself and his successors, centralizing them and giving them a Rule based on the Rule of St. Basil. They came to be known as the Order of St. Basil the Great, with the addition of "Ruthenian" (Ruthenorum) to distinguish them from Eastern rite monks of other nationalities who were also centralizing and using the name of Order of St. Basil with some addition to tell one group from the other. In 1932 the term "Ruthenian" was replaced by "of St. Josaphat".

After the partitions of Poland in 1772/1795, the Russians gradually suppressed the Kyivan Catholic Church on the territories they occupied. The Basilians of the Kyivan Metropolitanate survived only in Halyčyna which went under Austrian domination, but they failed to flourish. Only after the reform of 1882 did they start to increase, so that they were able to begin sending some members to Brazil in 1897 and to Canada in 1902 to help the Ukrainian emigrants in those missionary countries.

After World War I, the Basilians of Halyčyna undertook the reform of monasteries in the eparchies of Mukačiv, Prjašiv and Hajdudorog, and also in the Romanian monasteries. These monasteries were centralized with Halyčyna in 1931, and one General Curia was elected, with the Protoarchimandrite as head. The residence of the General Curia has been in Rome since 1932.

Basilians were sent to the United States in 1932 and to Argentina in 1935 and they gradually formed growing communities in those countries. After World War II, Basilians who found themselves in Poland organized themselves, and became a Delegation in 1946. In 1956, a monastery was opened in Kula, Yugoslavia, directly subject to the General Curia. The Delegation of Matawan [Hungarian] was established in 1975, also directly subject to the General Curia.

The General Curia resided in Rome at Piazza Madonna dei Monti 3 from 1932 until 1960, and then it moved to the new building on the Aventine. The Central Basilian Seminary is located in the same building, and the Pontifical Ukrainian Seminary in Rome is under the direction of the Basilian Fathers. Basilians also serve at the Congregation for the Oriental Churches, at the Congregation of the Doctrine of Faith, at the Roman Rota and at the Vatican Radio studios.

Historical Background

The Basilians arrived in Argentina in 1935 and began their pastoral work in Apóstoles, Misiones, where many Ukrainian immigrants had settled in the preceding years. Much of the province of Misiones had been under the care of Father Stefan Vaprovyc, but when he had to go back to Halyčyna on account of his failing health, the Basilians were left with the care of the whole area.

In 1940 they opened a residence and began parish work in Berisso (Bs.As.), and in 1942 they began pastoral work in Buenos Aires. They purchased a building in 1948 and opened a monastery with a chapel which served as the parish church until the end of December, 1964 when the building of present cathedral was finished. In 1965, the pastoral work in Buenos Aires was taken over by Bishop Andriј Sapelak, but the monastery remained as the headquarters of the vice-provincial superior. The locality of Hudson, presently a filial locality of Berisso, is attended by the vice-provincial superior.

In 1946 a residence in Oberá was established, with pastoral work in the surrounding colonies. Another residence was opened in 1948 in Posadas, the capital of the province of Misiones, with the pastoral care of Posadas and the surrounding colonies, and the Basilians remained in Posadas until 1969, when Bishop Sapelak appointed a secular priest for the parish.

In 1952 the place for a summer camp was purchased in Punta del Indio (Bs.As.) by the Basilians and they built the camp, which was later sold to the PLAST organization.

For a time the Basilians published in Argentina the magazines: "Postup" (1944-1945) and "Żyttia" (1948-1979).

On July 23, 1948 the Basilian Vice Province of Argentina was established, with 10 priests and 2 brothers, separate from Brazilian Province, to which Argentina had previously belonged. The headquarters of the Protohegumen was in Buenos Aires (1948-1958, 1964-1970), in Apóstoles (1958-1964, 1970-1979) and again has been in Buenos Aires since 1979.

In December, 1948 the Basilians opened a minor seminary in Apóstoles and on April 16, 1951 they opened a novitiate, but the novitiate lasted only until 1957, and then again for a short while in 1961, because the Fathers decided to send the few candidates they had to Ivaí, Brazil for their novitiate.

Historical Background

Father Sylvester Kizyma, OSBM, arrived in Brazil in 1897, and more Basilians came within the next few years. They established their residences in Prudentópolis, Paraná and in Iracema, Santa Catarina and started to do pastoral work among Ukrainians who were scattered in various localities in southeastern Brazil, mainly in the provinces of Paraná and Santa Catarina.

The first Basilian missionaries for several years came from Halyčyna and organized residences, parishes and missions in Brazil. In 1923 they sent their first two candidates, Roman (José) Martenetz and Ivan (Josafat) Roga to Mukačiv to make their novitiate. In 1932, the Basilians of Brazil opened their own novitiate in Prudentópolis, where it remained until 1948 when it was transferred to Ivaí, where it still is at present. In 1935 they opened the Minor Seminary São José in Prudentópolis, and in 1943 the House of Studies in Iracema. The House of Studies was located at different times in Iracema, Prudentópolis, Curitiba and Ivaí until 1969. The House of Studies was built in Curitiba in that year and has been located in Curitiba since then.

In 1909 the Basilians founded their own printing house in Prudentópolis, where they have published the monthly journal "Misionar" since 1911, the weekly newspaper "Practa" since 1912, and the annual "Kalender Praei" since 1921.

Until 1931 Brazil had the juridical status of a Mission. On December 6, 1931 it was made a Vice Province and on May 22, 1948 a Province. Between 1935 and 1948 they were sending missionaries to Argentina and the Vice Province included Argentina until Argentina itself became a Vice Province in 1948.

Historical Background

Three Basilian priests and one brother, the first Basilian missionaries in North America, arrived in Canada in 1902. In 1903 they were joined by two more priests, in 1905 by another two, and after them from time to time others came, taking under their pastoral care nearly all the Ukrainian settlements in Alberta. They served the people mainly from Mundare and Edmonton, and took care of several missions in Manitoba from St. Nicholas parish in Winnipeg.

In 1932 the Basilians extended their activity to the eastern provinces of Canada, and were given the parish of St. Michael in Montréal, Québec, which became a pastoral center with several missions in the Montréal area. They took care of Montréal until 1952, and the missions later became independent parishes. In 1937 they received the parish in Vancouver, British Columbia, on the far west coast of Canada at the shore of the Pacific Ocean.

In 1942 they bought a building in Grimsby with 240 acres of farm land of which 80 acres are fruit trees, and in 1943 they bought an additional 25 acres and transferred their house of studies to Grimsby from Mundare where it had been from 1930 to 1943. It remained in Grimsby until 1947 when the students were transferred to Glen Cove, New York. Since 1949, Basilian students from Canada have been studying theology at the Basilian House of Studies in Rome.

In 1949, a residence was opened in Toronto and in 1951 the parish of St. Basil was established in Toronto. In 1958 the fathers acquired 55 acres of property in Weston, Ontario, on which was built a high school in 1961/1962, which opened in 1963. In 1958 a residence was opened in Ottawa, Ontario, where they took care of the parish of St. John the Baptist.

Canada had the status of Mission from 1902 until 1932 when the Canadian-American Province was established, and then in 1948 Canada and the United States were divided into separate provinces. The residence of the Provincial Curia was in Mundare (1932-1948), in Edmonton (1948-1958) and has been in Winnipeg since 1958.

The novitiate was opened in Mundare in 1923 for Canadian born candidates; in 1933 it was transferred to a building at Mundare farm, back again to Mundare in 1948, in 1968 to St. Josaphat's Monastery in Ottawa, in 1976 to Glen Cove, New York and in 1983 back to Mundare.

The Basilian printing and publishing house was first located in Mundare (1936-1949) and was then moved to its present location in Toronto. At the printing house the annual "Kalendar Ukrajinskoji Rodyny" was published from 1930 until 1953, the monthly journal "Svitlo" has been published since 1936, the annual "Kalendar Svitla" since 1954, and the monthly journal "Beacon" in the English language since 1966.

Father Josafat Romanyk (1983-1985)

Historical Background

By the end of World War II, the Basilian Fathers had two monasteries on the territory of present Poland, in Peremyśl and in Warsaw. The monastery in Peremyśl was confiscated by the government in 1947, and then all the Basilians in Poland settled in the Warsaw monastery. From Warsaw they have been doing pastoral work since 1957 among relocated Ukrainians, scattered in northern and northwestern former German territories.

Presently the Basilians have three residences (Kołobrzeg, Olsztyn and Peremyśl) besides the two monasteries in Warsaw and Węgorzewo, which practically are pastoral centers. In 1946 Poland became a Delegation and in 1984 a Vice Province. A novitiate and house of studies were opened in the monastery in Warsaw in 1959.

Historical Background

The Basilians established their first residence in United States in 1932 in Chicago in St. Nicholas parish from which they served practically the whole Chicago area. In 1937 they opened a residence for pastoral work at Nativity of BVM church in South Pullman, a suburb of Chicago. In 1939 they took the parish of St. Michael farther to the south in Chicago, and organized St. Basil parish in the northeast part of Chicago. In 1962/64 they left the parishes of St. Nicholas, St. Michael and St. Basil to the secular clergy and took the parishes in Hamtramck and Warren, Michigan, opening a monastery in Hamtramck (1962) and a residence in Warren (1964).

In New York City they established a monastery in 1942 with pastoral care of New York City and the surrounding area. Almost immediately they opened missions around New York, which shortly afterward became parishes and some of them later were given to the secular clergy. In 1943 they started the parish in Bronx, in 1944 in Astoria and Hempstead, and in 1946 in West Islip. They took care of Binghamton (now Johnson City), in the northern part of the state of New York from 1943 until 1975. In 1946 they opened St. George Academy in New York City, and built the school buildings, the first in 1958 and the new one in 1968.

The novitiate was in Dawson, Pennsylvania (1947-1951), in Mundare, Alberta (1951-1957) and since 1958 in Glen Cove, L.I., New York. The property in Glen Cove had been acquired in 1944 for a novitiate, but the local Latin rite Ordinary of Brooklyn refused to give permission, and only in 1958 did the new Ordinary of Glen Cove give his consent, and the novitiate could be opened.

A house of studies was established in Glen Cove in 1945, and it remained open until 1953, with the major seminarians studying philosophy in Mundare and theology in Rome. It was reopened in 1980, and for studies of philosophy and theology the United States Province is now sending its students to the Basilian Central Seminary in Rome.

For a time Basilians published the annual "Kalendar Dobroho Pastyrja" (1948-1952) and popular religious booklets "Slovo Dobroho Pastyrja", at first monthly (1950-1954), then bi-monthly (1955-1960).

Basilians of United States and Canada were joined together in one North American Province in the years 1932-1948. In 1948 the United States became an independent province with its headquarters in New York City (1948-1966) and in Astoria [Long Island City], NY since 1966.

Historical background

Beginning in 1891, especially after 1896, Ukrainians began to emigrate from Halyčyna and Bukovyna to Canada, because of opportunity for land and work. They were predominantly Catholic, and settled in the "Prairie Provinces" of Saskatchewan, Alberta and Manitoba. They were desperately in need of priests of their own rite, but for a number of reasons, including an interdict against married clergy, there were no priests available.

Archbishop Abelard Langevin of St. Boniface, Manitoba was greatly concerned for the welfare of the many various groups of immigrants in his archdiocese, and he made a trip to Europe in 1898 to try to obtain priests for them. He visited the provincial superior of the Belgian Redemptorists in Brussels in July, 1898, and besought him to send missionaries to care for the Eastern rite Catholics who had emigrated to Canada from the Austro-Hungarian territories. The Redemptorists already had a missionary center in Brandon, Manitoba. These priests were trying to care for the spiritual needs of the people, but none of them was able to celebrate in the Eastern rite or could speak the language of the people.

Father Achille Delaere, who had just been ordained in 1896, answered the plea of the archbishop, and was sent to Poland to learn the language as soon as possible. A few months later, he set sail for Canada with another Redemptorist, Father Joseph Coppin. The ship ran into a submerged rock just before landing, but no lives were lost, and the two priests finally arrived in Brandon on October 11, 1899. Father Delaere attempted to take care of the numerous Ukrainian communities in Canada from the missionary center in Brandon, but he still was Latin rite and the people were suspicious of anything connected with the "Polish" rite - a suspicion well grounded in fact back in the old country. His pastoral activity was therefore hindered, in spite of his generous efforts.

In 1901, Father Vasyi Žoldak was sent to Canada as visitator by Metropolitan Andrii Šeptyckyj, in order to assess the situation of the Ukrainian Catholics. On his recommendation, Father Delaere was put in charge of the entire Yorkton-Canora district in Saskatchewan, where the Orthodox and Protestants were aggressively persuading the people to defect from the "Uniate" Church. On January 13, 1904, a Redemptorist house was opened in Yorkton, and on March 9, 1906, permission came from Rome for Father Delaere to celebrate in the Eastern rite. He celebrated his first Divine Liturgy on September 26, 1906, and the Redemptorist Ukrainian Canadian Missions officially was initiated on that day.

In 1908 a second Redemptorist adopted the Eastern rite - Father Henry Boels from the Belgian Province, who arrived in Yorkton on January 6, 1909. Two more Belgian Redemptorists soon followed - Fathers Noel Descamps and Charles Techeur. When Metropolitan Šeptyckyj was in Canada to attend the International Eucharistic Congress in Montréal (September 5-11, 1910), he was invited by Father Delaere to visit the Ukrainian communities in the west. The metropolitan accepted, and began an extensive tour of churches, preaching, blessing churches, etc. He was impressed with the work of the Redemptorists, and also by the fact that priests of both rites could live happily in the same house.

Eventually, through the combined efforts of Father Delaere, Father Patrick Murray (the Redemptorist Superior General), and Metropolitan Šeptyckyj, permission was obtained on June 11, 1913 to make an Eastern rite foundation of the Redemptorists at Univ, in a villa owned by

Metr. Šeptýcký. On August 21 of the same year, 4 priests and 2 brothers from Belgium went to make up the first community in Halyčyna.*

Bishop Nykyta Budka had already on January 23, 1913 given his permission for a foundation at Yorkton. Work was begun almost immediately on the construction of a large church and monastery in Yorkton, and the church was consecrated on August 23, 1914 by Bishop Budka. In the Yorkton district there were 25 missions already. In 1916 the Fathers opened a house in Komarno from which they took care of 40 missions until 1923. A new house was founded at Ituna, Saskatchewan in 1919, from which were served 12 localities formerly taken care of from Yorkton. In August of 1919 the Vice Province of Yorkton was established.

A number of other Belgian Redemptorists came to Canada, some to stay and others to help out for a while - Fathers Louis Van den Bosche, Francis Van den Bosche, Richard Costenoble, Joseph Ghekiere, Hubert Gelin, Jacob Janssen, Prosper Van Haute, Albinus Joseph Van Biesen, Albert Delforge, Hector Kinzinger, Albert Coulie, Louis Legaert, Joseph Neron and four laybrothers. In 1922 the first two Ukrainian born Redemptorists arrived from the newly established (1913) Eastern rite Vice-Province of Lviv - Fathers Ivan Bala and Stefan Bachtalovský, and in 1928 another two, Hryhorij Šyškovyč and Mykola Kopyakivský. After them several others arrived in the 1930's and 1940's. Altogether in the years 1922-1952, a total of 21 Redemptorists arrived from Halyčyna.

In 1946, the Fathers opened a house in Newark, New Jersey, which became the center of their missionary activity in the United States. In 1950 they went to Toronto where they took over the direction of 2 large parishes, and in 1967 they obtained the Ukrainian Catholic National Shrine of the Holy Family in Washington, DC.

The residence of the vice provincial superior was in Yorkton from 1919 until 1928 and from 1945 until 1958, when it was transferred to Winnipeg.

The Redemptorist Eastern Rite Province of Yorkton was established on July 16, 1961.

The novitiate was located in Yorkton, Saskatchewan (1914-1928, and 1940-1957)
Meadowvale, Ontario (1961-1967)

The Holy Redeemer major seminary was located in Yorkton, Saskatchewan (1941-1947 and 1960-1974)
Waterford, Ontario (1947-1953)
Meadowvale, Ontario (1953-1958)

The St. Vladimir's minor seminary was located in Yorkton, Saskatchewan (1917-1926, and 1935-1942)
Roblin, Manitoba since 1942

* The story of the foundation in Halyčyna is one of pure heroism. During World War I, the Fathers, as Belgian subjects, were first considered as enemies by the Austrian government, and then were severely harassed by the Russians and forced to live in extreme poverty. Finally they were ordered to leave, but they refused, even though permission had come from the superior general to take refuge in whatever countries were possible to get to. The Russians retreated eventually, and the house was again in Austrian territory. The army occupied the building for three years, and the priests were scattered among neighboring villages which other priests had left. All communication with the rest of the Congregation was severed. Finally the soldiers left and the Redemptorists resumed their life as before.

The house in Univ was not suitable when new members began to arrive, so it was transferred in 1919 to Zboiska, on the outskirts of Lviv. Soon it had to be enlarged, and a new wing was added for a juvenate. In 1920, a second house was opened in Stanislaviv, and in 1923 a third one at Holosko, which was to be the novitiate. In 1926, the Redemptorists began their apostolate in Volynia, at first in Kostopol and then in Kovel. In 1937, a house was established in Lviv itself. Vocations were plentiful, and by the outbreak of World War II there were almost a hundred Redemptorists in Halyčyna/Volynia.

The Fathers began operating a printing press in 1922, and a building was erected in 1954 to accommodate the Redeemer's Voice Printing House. Beside a number of books and pamphlets, several periodicals have been published - "Redeemer's Voice" monthly journal (1923-1984), "The Future of the Nation" monthly publication (1933-1950), "Redeemer's Voice Almanac", annual publication since 1935, and "Logos", quarterly theological journal (1950-1982).

When Father Delaere died in 1939, there were 12 priests and 5 lay brothers in Yorkton and Ituna. In 1987 in the Yorkton Province there were 11 residences, 5 prelates, 37 priests, 3 professed seminarians, 3 brothers and 1 novice in Canada and the United States.

SALESIANS OF ST. DON BOSCO [SDB]

The Ukrainian Salesians had their beginning when a number of Ukrainian boys were sent to Torino to study to become Salesians. They had been students at the gymnasium of Peremyśl, and were recruited by the catechist of the gymnasium, Father Petro Holynskyj, who had advertised among his students. Father Vasył Hrynyk, a member of the Peremyśl Chapter, then took care of making the arrangements with the parents and the respective pastors of the boys, and Bishop Josafat Kocylovskyj of Peremyśl gave his wholehearted support. Altogether 32 boys were sent - ten in 1932, six in 1937, eight in 1938 and eight in 1939. Then World War II broke out, and the sending of any more students was not possible. The war also interrupted the return of those who had become Salesians to work among the Ukrainians in their native land. Of these students, 17 became Salesian priests and 2 became Salesian brothers. The priests were ordained by the end or not long after the war by Bishop/Archbishop Ivan Bučko. After World War II they were joined by other Ukrainians who also became Salesians.

Since 1951, one of their most important works for the Ukrainian Catholic Church has been the teaching and direction of the Pontifical Ukrainian Minor Seminary. The seminary was first located in Loury (not far from Orléans) France (1951-1956), then in Castelgandolfo near Rome (1956-1959) and in Rome since 1959.

Another important work of the Salesians is their pastoral work among the Ukrainian Catholics in Argentina, where Bishop Andrés Sapelak, SDB, is the Eparch for Ukrainian Catholics. The Ukrainian Salesians did not form a separate branch of their religious community, but are included in the general Salesian provinces or vice-provinces. Nevertheless, all of the Ukrainian Salesians except two are working at present among Ukrainians and for Ukrainians, and two non-Ukrainian Salesians are working among the Ukrainian Catholics in Argentina.

Studite Monks

STUDITE MONKS

Former Archimandrites

Metropolitan Andriy Šeptyckyj (1901-1944)

Hieromonk Klymentij Šeptyckyj (1944-1958)

Historical Background

In 1901, Metropolitan Andriy Šeptyckyj gathered together two groups of men who had been living a communal life of prayer and work in Volsvyn near Krystynopil and Olesko near Zoločiv, and brought them to live together in Vulka near Lviv. In 1903, he moved them to Sknyliv, and they built a monastery on property belonging to his family. In 1906 he gave them their first rule, or Typicon, which was based on the Typicon of St. Theodore Studite, written in about the year 800. The community was to serve as an example of eastern mysticism in a western setting, following the liturgical, spiritual, ascetic and monastic traditions of eastern monasticism. In 1908 he ordained the first hieromonk [priest-monk] and in 1910 the novitiate was opened. Casimir Šeptyckyj, the brother of the metropolitan, went to the Benedictine Monastery in Beuron in 1911, where he made his novitiate, received the schema taking the name of Klymentij, and was ordained as priest in 1915. He then returned to Sknyliv and became superior of the monastery. In 1916 the monks took the name of Studites.

When World War I broke out, the monks were either conscripted into the army or imprisoned by the Austrian government, and the monastery at Sknyliv was burned down. After the war was over, Metropolitan Šeptyckyj collected the surviving monks and brought them to Lviv where he gave them the care of an extensive library of works on the Eastern Church. Then in 1919 he established them in a restored monastery at Univ. The Holy Dormition Lavra, as this monastery was called, became the mother house of all Studite monasteries. Hieromonk Klymentij Šeptyckyj was appointed as superior of the monastery in 1923, although not with the title of Archimandrite, which was retained by the metropolitan. There was only one monastery outside of Ukrainian national territories at this time - in Kamenica, Slavonia (1915-1926), but it was closed by the Yugoslavian government.

The metropolitan and his brother revised and expanded the Typicon and presented the completed revision to the Sacred Congregation for the Eastern Churches for approval in 1937. [This typicon was in the French language, and was translated into Ukrainian in 1981 and published at the Studion in Castelgandolfo.] Besides 8 hours of prayer and 8 hours of rest, the monks spent the remainder of their time in agriculture, the manufacture of textiles and the operation of a small printing press. In addition, they opened a school of iconography and two orphanages for boys. In 1939, at the outbreak of World War II, the Studites had 5 monasteries (Univ, Lviv-Studion, Lviv-Kryvčyči, Zarvanyča and Pidluta) and 4 stanyci or missions (Dota, Florynka, Chutory Merlinskie [Pidlattia], and Olpienie [Polissia]) in Ukraine, with 225 monks (23 hieromonks, 8 hierodeacons, 82 arcanii stauroforii, 41 arcanii riasoforii, 45 arcanii inservienti, and 26 postulants).

During World War II, the monasteries were destroyed and the monks killed or imprisoned. Hieromonk Klymentij became Archimandrite after the death of Metropolitan Andrij in 1944. He was soon deported and died in exile in Vladimir on the Kiasma on May 1, 1958. Hieromonk Nikanor succeeded him as Archimandrite for the Studites remaining in Halyčyna.

All the Studite monasteries had been either destroyed or confiscated during the war, and the monks had all been dispersed, except for a few who were able to continue a hidden monastic life in the former monastery at Univ, which had been made into a home for the aged. Some of the monks had been brought to Germany for forced labor, and after the war they rejoined in a temporary monastery (1946-1949) in Buke in the Diocese of Paderborn. In 1949 nine of them transferred to Belgium, where they stayed in the Benedictine Priory of St. Crusis de Amay in Chevetogne. Five of these monks, along with four new candidates, made up the group of Studites who went to Woodstock, Ontario in 1951. The Monastery of Holy Dormition was the main monastery of the Studites in diaspora from 1951 until 1965.

In 1965 the Monastery of St. Theodore Studite [Studion] was established in Castelgandolfo/Grottaferrata, close to Rome. This monastery then became the motherhouse/novitiate for the Studite monasteries outside of Halyčyna.

At present there are [outside of Ukraine] the monastery in Grottaferrata and the affiliated monastery in Woodstock, and a "stanycia" in Passaic, New Jersey, USA, opened in 1983. The former "stanyci" in Krefeld, W. Germany (1972-1984) and in Encarnación, Paraguay (1974-1984) have been closed. In 1987 there were 8 hieromonks, 4 schemomonks [who have received the schema, comparable to solemn profession], 1 poslušnyk and 5 novices.

Historical data: The Studion Monastery in Castelgandolfo was founded on October 1, 1965, through the efforts of Archbishop Major Josyf Slipyj, who had been requested by Archimandrite Klymentij Septyckyj to take over the leadership of the Studites in the free world, if he would be released from prison first and survive him. On June 23, 1964, Archbishop Slipyj wrote a letter to the Studites in the free world to mark the anniversary of the founding of the original Stoudion Monastery in 463, and to announce the opening of the Studion Monastery in Rome and to encourage the monks to be true to their monastic tradition. Four monks from Woodstock went to Rome shortly afterward to the new monastery.

The monastery building was purchased from the Marianite Congregation in 1964. It became the property of Santa Sophia Association on October 1, 1965 and was ceded by the Santa Sophia Association to the Studites on November 8, 1985. The total area of the monastery grounds is 3 and a half acres.

The monastery is situated in the area of the Castelli Romani, south of Rome, overlooking Lake Albano. It contains nearly 100 rooms, a large chapel, refectory and classrooms. Behind the monastery is a 15 acre farm, which formerly included livestock and poultry.

It is closely affiliated with the Ukrainian Catholic Santa Sophia Seminary and the Ukrainian Catholic University of St. Clement in Rome.

Hieromonk Lubomyr Husar was appointed superior on May 12, 1974, and nominated as Archimandrite for life on July 23, 1978 and blessed on August 29, 1978.

Historical data: Holy Dormition Monastery in Woodstock was founded at the invitation of Bishop Isidore Borecky in 1951 by a group of 9 Studite monks who had escaped from war-torn Ukraine - Father Marko Stek [their titular head], Father Theophan Shewaha, hierodeacon Joseph Myskiw and 6 brothers, Alex Mociak, Theodore Hasy nec, Lawrence Kuzyk, Michael Smal, Theophil Gaba and Filotej Kozj.

The monks at first stayed at the Redemptorist Monastery of St. Alphonsus in Woodstock, and Father Demetrius Kowalchik, OSB, of Ukrainian descent, was appointed to help them get established, since none of them spoke English. He remained with them until 1952, and then returned to his monastery in Lisle, Illinois. A farm with the surrounding 100 acre property at the edge of Woodstock was purchased in 1951 with the help of a $25,000 gift from the Canadian Bishops' Conference, and was converted into the first monastery. The monks cleared the underbrush and tried to make the farm productive again, since it was in a state of deterioration. The former slaughter house with the addition of a small chapel was used to house the monks.

The monks experienced many difficulties with their temporal affairs and had trouble coping with them in their unfamiliar surroundings. Father Kowalchik was again appointed to take charge at the end of 1956 and he remained with the monks, sharing their hardships and organizing their material affairs until 1959.

The present monastery and chapel were built at the cost of $200,000 in 1964-1968 on a site close to the old monastery. A devastating tornado hit Woodstock in 1979, but the monastery was spared, although it took 3 years to clean up after the disaster. Farming, once the main occupation of the monks, has now been diminished, and the apiary has been reduced from 46 colonies [beehives] to 12 colonies. 35 acres of the land has been leased for corn production, and 45 acres for the building of a golf course and recreational area.

The Basil Ostay Home, a senior citizens' complex adjacent to the monastery, with 34 units, was officially opened on June 18, 1986.

MONKS OF MT. TABOR – HOLY TRANSFIGURATION MONASTERY

17001 Tomki Rd.
Redwood Valley, California 95470
☎ (707) 485-8959

Abbot: Rt. Rev. Boniface Luykx

Assistant: Rev. Michael Ukrainiec

Historical data: Mount Tabor, or officially Holy Transfiguration Monastery, was founded on June 5, 1972 in Detroit by Rt. Rev. Boniface Luykx, under the auspices of Cardinal Dearden. Having to move to a better climate, on April 11, 1977, the monks moved to a place in the mountains of the California Coastal Range. The land had only a house and cottage, but they soon built a wooden church in Hutzul style, a novitiate, a retreat house with 14 rooms, a large central building containing a refectory, library, workshops and other rooms, where the monks follow a life of prayer and of activities compatible with the contemplative life. The monastery is part of the Eparchy of Chicago.

Besides singing the complete Byzantine Office in English and keeping the liturgical and monastic fasts, they organize retreats, spiritual weekends, offer spiritual direction, and publish a regular newsletter. They also host the Metropolitan Sheptycky Institute on Byzantine Spirituality.

There are several degrees of monastic initiation followed at the monastery. After a postulancy or trial period of indefinite duration, the candidate is tonsured and given the monastic habit. The novitiate normally lasts 3 years, after which the candidate is consecrated (comparable to the taking of perpetual vows). Some, with a further calling, may receive the great habit and/or begin an eremitical life. The aggregate members, to which women are admitted, follow the monastic life in the world, alone or in community; they share in the spiritual benefits of the monastery but are not fully monks.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY OF ST. ANDREW

Route 23A, P.O. Box 121A
Hunter, New York 12442
☎ (518) 263-3862

Founder/Superior: Rt. Rev. Msgr. Yaroslav Swyschuk, since 1972

Historical data: The Missionary Apostolate of St. Andrew was officially begun with the blessing of the "First Ukrainian Mission House of the Boy Christ" - "Перша Українська Станція Христа Юнака" in Nazareth by Bishop Jaroslav Gabro on August 13, 1972. The house had been bought for $9,500 and was deeded to the Eparchy of St. Nicholas of Chicago. In 1974-1976, Father Casimir Roszko built a second floor and increased the number of rooms, and at present there are 12 rooms and 2 kitchens. In 1983

Father Swyschuk added a swimming pool and 2 rooms for the school children. The school from 1972 until 1985 was attended regularly by 13 to 18 students, with classes in religion, Arab language and culture and sports at the swimming pool. Altogether over 60 children attended the classes during those years. The Arab teacher was paid by the Society.

In 1973 the Apostolate bought 46 acres of property in Knox, Indiana with 13 buildings, and in 1976 Bishop Gabro formally deeded the property to the Apostolate and blessed it. In 1978 the Apostolate built the Metr. Andriy Sheptyckyj Museum in Knox, which was blessed by Bishop Gabro in July of the same year.

In 1983 the society was transferred to Stamford and at the wish of Bishop Losten the name of "Missionary Apostolate of St. Andrew" was changed to "Missionary Society of St. Andrew". After a year and a half in Stamford, in 1986 it was transferred to Hunter, New York.

Between 1972 and 1982 there were 6 members, and between 1983 and 1985 the number had increased to 11 members (9 in Nazareth and 2 in Knox, Indiana). In 1987 there were 3 novices in Hunter. Two of them go to high school in Tannersville, NY and one attends St. Basil's College in Stamford. Besides regular studies, at home they are taught Old and New Testaments, liturgy, church singing, history of the Ukrainian Catholic Church and selected religious subjects, by Father Swyschuk and Brother Joseph.

In the March of 1987, Bishop Losten approved the statutes of the Society and took it under his jurisdiction. The constitutions are based on the typikon of the Studites, and on experience and existing practice of the past 15 years. The purpose of the society is to spread missionary spirit among Eastern Churches, especially among Ukrainian Catholics.

Since the Spring of 1971 the periodical "Nazareth" has been published, and it now is the official publication of the Missionary Society. Since 1982, the bi-monthly "Letters of the Apostolate of St. Andrew", edited by Father Swyschuk, has also been published.

The apostolate is assisted by 2 societies - the "Apostolate of Metropolitan Andriy Sheptyckyj". The first is at St. Nicholas Church in Chicago (18 members), with Iwanna Gorchynska as president since 1973, and at St. John the Baptist parish in Detroit (12 members), with Natalia Mordovanec as president since 1984.

The prototype and the first monastery of women in the Kyivan Metropolitanate, mentioned in the Annals of Nestor, was the monastery of St. Irene, founded in Kyiv in 1037 by Prince Jaroslav the Wise. From Kyiv, women's monasticism spread throughout the territories belonging to the Kyivan Rus' State, not only on present Ukrainian, but also on Bielorusian and Russian territories. The monasteries were not centralized, and each had its own superior and was under the supervision of the local eparch.

The Union of Berestja and the reform of men's monasteries by Metropolitan Josyf V. Rutskyj (begun in 1617) brought about little exterior change in women's monasteries, and each monastery remained independent. Altogether there were 25 monasteries on Ukrainian and Bielorusian territories in the Polish-Lithuanian State at the time of its first Partition in 1772. During and after the three Partitions of Poland-Lithuania (1772/1795), the monasteries which had come under Muscovite domination were all suppressed, and of those which ended up under Austrian domination, only two survived the Josephine reform - Holy Cross Monastery in Slovita (founded in 1581) and Pokrova of the BYM Monastery in Javoriv (founded in 1621).

By the end of the 19th century a gradual revival and growth had begun. New monasteries, all independent, were opened on native territories - in Lviv (St. Vasylij in 1881, St. Makryna in 1912 and a contemplative monastery in 1939), in Stanislaviv (St. Josyf in 1900), in Užhorod (Sacred Heart in 1921), in Prjašiv (1922), in Pidmychajlivci (1930), in Mukačiv (1930), and in Mariapoc (1935). Before World War II, independent monasteries were opened in other countries to which Byzantine Kyivan Rite faithful had emigrated - in the United States in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania (1911) and in Cleveland (Uniontown), Ohio (1921), in present Yugoslavia in Križevci (1915) and in Osijek (1920), and in Argentina in Apóstoles, Misiones (1939).

At the Synod of Lviv in 1891 it was decided that there would be one novitiate for both of the surviving monasteries of Slovita and Javoriv. In 1897 Metropolitan Sylvester Sembratovyč ordered a reform of the Basilian Sisters and entrusted it to Basilian reformed monks who carried out the work from 1897 until 1902. The reform was formally accepted by the first General Chapter of the Basilian Sisters in 1902 and at the second General Chapter in 1909 was accepted the Rule, based on the revised Rule of Metropolitan Rutskyj and readjusted by Metropolitan Šeptyckyj. The monasteries remained uncentralized, however, until after World War II. In 1951, the Oriental Congregation gave the direct order to centralize and appointed the first General Administration, which was replaced with the first elected General Administration at the first General Chapter in 1954. Elections took place at the General Chapters of 1963 and 1971, and since then every 6 years there has been a General Chapter and the election of a new General Administration.

The residence of the General Administration or General Curia was first in Washington, DC (1951-1952), then in Astoria, New York (1952-1954) and is presently in Rome since 1954.

Directly subject to the General Curia are two contemplative monasteries, Sacred Heart monastery founded in Astoria, L.I., N.Y. in 1958, and St. Basil's monastery in Albano, close to Rome, founded in 1845 by Mother Macrina Miczysławska of Minsk and subordinated to the General Curia in 1966. Also directly under the General Curia is the Mission in Krefeld-Traar, Germany, opened by the General Curia in 1981.

The Transcarpathian Province of Uniontown, Ohio is not included in this schematism.

Basilian Sisters were sent to the United States in 1911 by Metropolitan Andrij Šeptyckyj at the request of Bishop Soter Ortynskyj. They opened a convent, orphanage and printing press in Philadelphia in 1912, and began to print the magazine "Misionar". In Chesapeake City, 180 acres of property was acquired for an orphanage. In 1925 the sisters opened an elementary day school in Philadelphia. In the same year they acquired 130 acres of property in Fox Chase, on the outskirts of Philadelphia, and in 1930 they built the convent which became the motherhouse, novitiate house and residence of their administration. There on 1931 they opened St. Basil's Academy, a high school for girls, and in 1947 in nearby Jenkintown they opened Manor Junior College. In 1947 they bought 20 acres of property at Lindley Avenue in Philadelphia and transferred the orphanage and printing press there and opened a day school.

The principal work of the sisters is teaching, especially of catechism in parishes and the direction of schools. In 1961, on the fiftieth anniversary of their arrival in the United States, they had 27 convents and residences (predominantly with elementary day schools), two orphanages, one high school and one junior college.

The Basilian Sisters went to present day Yugoslavia during World War I. They came from the Slovita monastery in Halyčyna, and with the help of Bishop Julij Drohobecy they opened a convent in Križevci in 1915. They opened other convents in Sošice in 1939, in Zagreb in 1954, and in Karlovac in 1972.

At first the novices were sent for training either to Halyčyna or to Sošice, but in 1940 the sisters opened their own novitiate. In 1951, by order of the Oriental Congregation, they were centralized along with the other Basilian Sisters. In 1954 they obtained the status of Delegation and in 1965 the Delegation was raised to a Vice-Province by the Oriental Congregation at the request of the Basilian Sisters General Curia.

Between 1915-1946 their main apostolate was the direction of an internat (residence) for girls in Križevci, giving them a Christian education. Since the internat was closed the sisters teach catechism in parishes and help with pastoral work.

In 1920 at the invitation of Bishop Dionysij Njaradi the Basilian sisters went to Šid from the Slovita monastery and opened a convent, an internat for girls and an orphanage in the bishop's residence, thus saving the residence, which the government wanted to confiscate.

In 1936 the sisters opened a convent and kindergarten in Mikluševci. In 1939 they bought the building in Osijek and opened it as a convent, an internat for girls and a chapel for local people, which served as a parish church, since there was no church of Byzantine rite. In 1945, the Osijek convent became the motherhouse with novitiate and a kindergarten, the internats in both Osijek and Šid having been closed by government.

In 1960 a residence was opened in Novi Sad for sisters working in the government hospital; they had been housed by the Franciscan Fathers until they were able to buy their own house. They opened convents in 1965 in Vukovar, in 1970 in Devetina, and in 1980 in Slavonski Brod.

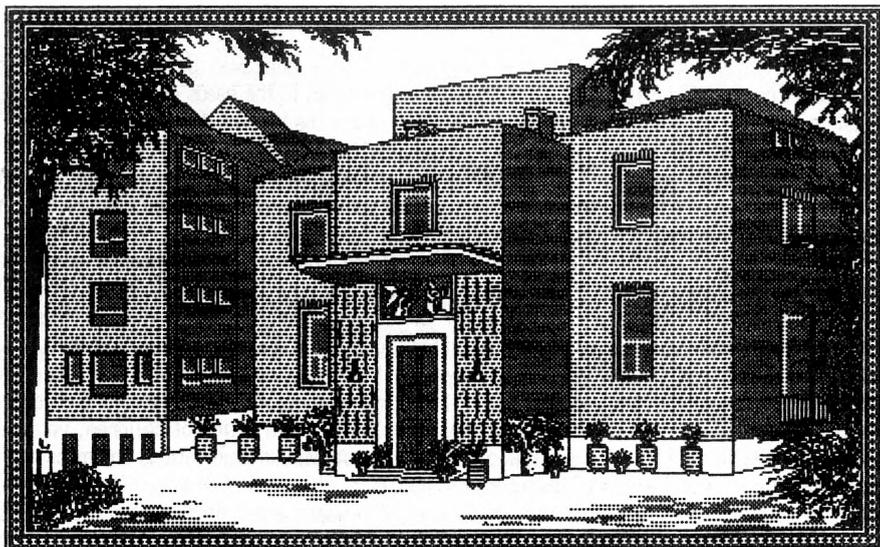

In 1951 the sisters were centralized by the Oriental Congregation. Presently the principal service of sisters is pastoral work and the teaching catechism in parishes.

The Congregation of the Sisters Servants of Mary Immaculate, the first active apostolic Congregation in the Ukrainian Church, was founded in 1892 in Žužel, Halyčyna. Mychajlyna [religious name Josafata] Hordaševska of Lviv was chosen by the founders, Rev. Jeremija Lomnyckyj, OSBM, and Rev. Canon Kyrylo Selockyj, to be the first founding member of the new congregation. She was sent to the Felician Sisters in Žovkva to observe and learn the life of active religious. She designed her religious habit in which she was officially clothed on August 24, 1892 in Lviv, and immediately left for Žužel to guide eight girls who were waiting to be admitted into the new congregation. The novitiate was moved to Krystynopil in 1894, where it remained until 1946.

The first Constitutions for the new congregation were approved by Sylvester Cardinal Sembratovyč on May 6, 1892. They were enlarged and adapted to the needs of the fast-spreading apostolate in 1907 by Metropolitan Andrii Šeptyckyj, with the help of the Basilian Fathers. In 1932 the Holy See raised the Congregation to an Institute Of Papal Right, and approved its Constitutions for seven years. In fact, because of war and post-war circumstances, they remained in force much longer. In 1956, the Constitutions, once again updated, were approved by the Holy See and an Apostolic Brief confirmed the Congregation in perpetuity.

Responding to the ecclesial call of the Second Vatican Council for religious to adapt their Constitutions to the contemporary needs of the Church, the Sisters Servants formulated experimental Constitutions in 1970. In 1981 the present Constitutions and Directives were definitively approved by the Sacred Congregation for the Oriental Churches.

The Sisters Servants were founded to serve the Ukrainian people "where the need is the greatest" - to be wholeheartedly committed to the Church and people. The sisters are engaged in education at all levels; care for the sick, needy and elderly; instruction of children, youth and adults in their faith; in retreat and mission ministry; in social communications and mass media, and are concerned for the beauty of churches and chapels.

The growth of the Congregation was very rapid. Ten years after its foundation, there were already over 100 sisters missioned in 20 homes in Halyčyna. In 1902, four Sisters Servants were sent to Canada to serve the Ukrainian immigrants in that country. This nucleus grew into the present Christ the King Province in Canada and the Immaculate Conception Province in the United States. In 1906 the sisters went to Križevci, Yugoslavia, which was the beginning of the Vice Province of St. Joseph. By 1911 the Sisters Servants were ready for further ventures and seven of them were sent to Brazil. Today the St. Michael's Province in Brazil is one of the largest Provinces of the Sisters Servants in the free world. It has extended its apostolate into Argentina, creating there a Delegation. In 1928 the Sisters Servants carried their apostolate into Czechoslovakia, and today there is a Province there under the patronage of the Holy Spirit.

During and after World War II, many Ukrainians escaped into Western Europe. The Sisters Servants in Halyčyna were dispersed. Many followed their people into Poland, and there the Province of the Mother of Perpetual Help was eventually erected.

Following World War II, missions were opened in France, Germany and England to serve the Ukrainian refugees in those countries.

The first General Chapter was held in Lviv in 1934. Its aim was to centralize the already widespread Congregation. Sister Veronica Gargil was elected Superior General of the centralized Congregation, and provinces were established in Halyčyna, Canada and Brazil. The General Administration was in Lviv until 1945. In that year the Superior General, Veronica Gargil, and her Councillor, Christophora Kachkovska, managed to escape to Rome and obtained permission to continue the administration of the Congregation from there. The present Generalate is in Rome.

In addition to the general administration of the entire Congregation, various other apostolates are carried on from the Generalate. Sisters from the various provinces work at the Vatican Radio, the Sacred Congregation for the Oriental Churches, the Secretariate of the Synod of the Ukrainian Catholic Hierarchy, the Major and Minor Seminaries, the St. John Damascene Institute, and two Vatican Curia residences. The Postulation Office is also located at the Generalate - at present the beatification process for the foundress Josaphata Hordasevska is underway. Sister Dominica Slawuta is the Postulator. Another apostolate is the preparation of liturgical vestments.

A mission home at the Cathedral in Munich belongs to the Generalate. Here the sisters officially assist the pastor in the parish ministry, catechize children and work with youth, give social and nursing service to the sick and elderly, and domestic service in the pastor's residence.

In 1939, the Congregation numbered 1,067 professed sisters, 87 novices and 45 candidates, missioned in 182 homes. In 1986, there were recorded 694 professed sisters, 19 novices and 21 candidates, missioned in 120 homes. The present statistics do not include Halyčyna and Czechoslovakia.

Anatolia Zenobia Bulat (1975-1978)

In 1965, four Sisters Servants from Brazil arrived in Buenos Aires to take over the domestic duties at the Bishop's residence, to teach catechism and Ukrainian culture classes at the parish, and to care for the cathedral. Later they also performed domestic duties at the seminary.

Sr. Teofânia Bronislava Borchtch was in charge of the mission. She was succeeded six years later by Sr. Neonila Anastacia Oneszko who guided the sisters until the erection of the Delegation.

In 1967 a resident home for student girls was opened in the distant province of Chaco, and a similar home in Misiones in 1975. In 1973 a five-storey residence in the heart of Buenos Aires provided hospitality to student and working girls and the sisters ministered spiritually and materially to these young women until the home was closed in 1976. Also in 1973, the sisters began an apostolate in Llavallol, a suburb of Buenos Aires. To support themselves, they opened a large kindergarten there. A sizeable convent was constructed with outside financial assistance. In 1982 the sisters withdrew their domestic service at the Bishop's residence in order to expand their catechetical ministry and consequently a small mission was opened in the province of Formosa in 1984.

In 1973 the General Council in Rome grouped the then existing Argentina missions into the Delegation of St. Josaphat. The new administration of the Delegation located itself permanently in Llavallol. The Superior General, Sr. Jerome Maria Chimy, appointed Sr. Jaroslava Eugenia Nechochetko as the first Superior of the Delegation.

Due to an acute shortage of priests and the extremely scattered Ukrainian population, even today the apostolate of the sisters centers mainly on religious instruction, very often of the entire family, preparing them for baptism and Christian living. Vacation schools take the sisters to very remote and neglected areas. Where the opportunity presents itself, the sisters also minister to the Ukrainian Orthodox.

The Delegation is dependent on the Province of Brazil, and the novices are sent to the Brazil novitiate for formation.

In 1986 the Argentina Delegation of St. Josaphat numbered 15 professed sisters, 5 novices and one candidate, missioned in four homes.

In 1911, seven Sisters Servants were sent from Halyčyna to start a mission among the Ukrainian immigrants to Brazil. Four of them went to Prudentópolis, Paraná, and three others to Iracema, Santa Catarina. Soon after their arrival, the sisters began their apostolate "where the need was the greatest."

In Prudentópolis, under the direction of Sr. Valdomira Wladyslawa Pinhonjek, a resident school was opened. Sr. Anatolia Tecla Bodnar was entrusted with the care of the sick and the destitute who were plentiful at that time. The support staff was Sr. Eumelia Maria Klapouchak and Sr. Sofija Ana Ramac. In Iracema, under the superiorship of Sr. Helena Ines Kucher, Srs. Olga Maria Lukach and Salome Catharina Kovalechen started a school and cared for the sick in the area.

The greatest concern of the sisters in Brazil was to open a novitiate for the formation of new members for the vast apostolate there. To their great joy, a novitiate was canonically opened in Prudentópolis in 1915, and immediately, three candidates entered. For 60 years, the daughters of the Ukrainian pioneers who entered the ranks of the Sisters Servants were formed in Prudentópolis. In 1981 the novitiate was transferred to Ivai, where it is at present.

The missions in Brazil were under the superiorship of Sr. Valdomira Pinhonjek until 1928, and then under Sr. Anatolia Bodnar until 1934. When the Province of St. Michael the Archangel was formally erected in 1934, the Superior General, Sr. Veronica Gargil, appointed Sr. Anatolia Bodnar as its first Provincial Superior. The provincial administration was located in Prudentópolis until 1979, when it was transferred to Curitiba where it is at present.

The apostolate of the Sisters Servants in Brazil was blessed with rapid growth and expansion. The sisters conduct numerous schools at the elementary and secondary levels, administer hospitals and first aid stations, care for the churches, conduct an extensive catechetical ministry especially in the summer months, and in general strive to cultivate the spiritual and cultural life of their people. Since 1973, the province has published the quarterly "Choven Marii".

In 1966 the Sisters Servants from Brazil extended their apostolate into Argentina. A Delegation, dependent on Brazil, was established in 1972.

In 1986 there were 338 professed sisters, 10 novices and 9 candidates, missioned in 48 homes in Brazil, one in Germany and one in Rome.

Four Sisters Servants arrived in Edmonton on November 1, 1902 to begin a ministry of service to the Ukrainian settlers who were immigrating in large numbers to Canada. Within six months, one of them died. The remaining three sisters moved in 1903 to nearby Mundare, where the Basilian Fathers had taken up residence. In that same year a novitiate was opened and immediately three candidates were received.

The novitiate remained in Mundare until 1946, when it was moved to Ancaster, Ontario, a place more central to candidates from both Canada and the United States. Following the establishment of a separate United States Province in 1959, the novitiate in Ancaster continued to be the center of formation for both North American Provinces until 1968. After a brief transfer to Toronto (1969-1976), the Canadian novitiate returned to Mundare in 1976. The annals record a second novitiate in Winnipeg, but it was of short duration (1912-1914).

In 1908, two of the original group of four sisters returned to Halyčyna, leaving Sr. Ambrosia Marcella Lenkevich alone in charge. In 1909, she was officially appointed assistant for Canada to the major superior in Halyčyna, Sr. Vitalia Anna Mikus. She held that post until 1926 when she was succeeded by Sr. Athanasia Theodosia Melnyk. When the Canadian Province of Christ the King was erected in 1934, Sr. Elizabeth Sophia Kassian was appointed by the General Superior, Sr. Veronica Maria Gargil, as its first provincial superior. Subsequent incumbents in office resulted from duly held Chapters and consultations.

In Canada, the Congregation had a rapid growth. At the time of Sr. Veronica Gargil's first visitation in Canada in 1936, there were 126 sisters in 15 homes.

In 1935, at the request of Bishop Constantine Bohachevsky, four sisters were sent from Canada to Stamford, Connecticut, to direct the domestic duties in the seminary, and to teach catechism in the parish. In the succeeding years, sisters were continually being sent to newly opened missions in the United States, and by the time of the erection of a separate province in the United States in 1959, 45 sisters from Canada were serving there.

The Canadian administration was first located in Mundare; it transferred to Edmonton in 1934, to Ancaster in 1946, and to Toronto in 1948 where it is at present.

True to the charism of the Congregation, the Sisters Servants in Canada wholeheartedly serve the Church and the Ukrainian people where the need is the greatest. They are involved in education at all levels, care of the sick, needy and elderly, catechetics, retreat and mission ministry, social communications and mass media, concern for the beauty of churches and chapels, and domestic and chancery assistance in bishop's residences and in the inter-eparchial seminary. There is an annual Marian "Vidpust" in Ancaster on the Feast of Our Mother of Perpetual Help.

Since 1938, the province has published a quarterly, called earlier "Star of Mary" and now "Communications Canada".

In 1986, the Province of Christ the King in Canada numbered 158 professed sisters, 2 novices and 9 candidates, missioned in 24 houses in Canada, two in France and one in England.

The history of the Mother of Perpetual Help Province in Poland begins with the tragedy of World War II. With the establishment of the Soviet Regime in Halyčyna, the Sisters Servants, like all religious congregations, were dispersed and their novitiate in Krystynopil was closed. During and after the war, a notable number of these sisters and novices escaped into Poland. In 1940 the Sisters Servants were entrusted with the administration of a general hospital in Cholm. Here 13 refugee sisters earned their livelihood and offered help to some of their less fortunate sisters.

Most of the homes in Poland were established after 1946. In that year the sisters were given the administration of a government hospital for tuberculosis patients in Adampol. In 1952-53, the Polish Communist government took away from all religious congregations the administration of schools and hospitals. The religious were then able to work and administer only homes for the handicapped, elderly and retarded people. The Sisters Servants had to leave the hospital in Cholm, and were given the administration of an institute for the aged and handicapped adults in Janów Lubelski. In 1964 they were invited to administer a home for retarded children in Matczyn.

In 1947, the general administration of the Congregation organized the sisters living in Poland into a vice province with Sr. Amalia Olena Czaban, who had been in charge of the sisters in Poland during and after the war, as vice-provincial superior. The headquarters of the vice province was in Cholm. In 1968 the vice province was raised to the status of province.

In 1950, the Basilian Fathers leased to the Sisters Servants a part of their monastery in Warsaw. The building, ruined by the war, was in great need of repair. The sisters were to pay for the restoration of their section and in return could occupy it, and the vice-provincial administration was transferred to Warsaw, where it is at present.

The first novitiate in Poland was located at Adampol from 1947 until 1951. It was moved to Warsaw in 1951, to Goleniów in 1955, and back to Warsaw in 1957 where it is today.

During the first post-war years in Poland, the sisters were not able openly to reveal their identity as religious of the Ukrainian rite. To earn their livelihood, they ministered in Polish parishes, taught catechism and cared for the churches. Usually only the bishop and the pastors knew their true identity. Gradually, as Ukrainian parish centers opened, the sisters systematically left the Polish parishes and ministered to their own people.

Their catechetical ministry is well organized and highly developed. The sisters travel long distances to reach the Ukrainian communities. In 1986, the sisters-catechists served 37 Ukrainian centers.

In 1986 there were 83 professed sisters, one novice and one candidate in 12 established homes in Poland, one in France and one in Rome.

| Sisters Vincent Rosalie Yaremovich (1959-1971) | Stephanie Evelyn Sema (1976-1986) |

In 1935, at the request of Bishop Constantine Bohachevsky, five Sisters Servants were sent from Canada to Stamford, Connecticut, to direct the domestic duties in the seminary and to teach catechism in the local parish. Immediately, requests poured in for more sisters to serve more missions. By 1939, only four years later, they were serving in 13 missions. By the time of the erection of the separate United States Province in 1959, sisters had been missioned in 33 homes. 17 of these were still active, well-established and flourishing. They had also begun, in 1953, a ministry in the Byzantine-Ruthenian Exarchate of Pittsburgh.

The first American candidate entered in 1938, but already in 1911 Bishop Soter Ortynsky had directed three European born candidates from the United States to the novitiate in Mundare, Alberta. By 1959 there were 52 American born sisters in the province. The common formation program continued in Canada until 1968, when a novitiate was opened in Lansdale, Pennsylvania. It was transferred to Sloatsburg, New York in 1971.

When the United States Province of the Immaculate Conception was officially erected in 1959, the General Superior, Sr. Jerome Maria Chimy, appointed Sr. Vincent Rosalie Yaremovich as its first Provincial Superior. The provincialate was located in Philadelphia until 1978 when it moved to Sloatsburg.

The sisters in the United States missions serve the Church and its people wholeheartedly "serving where the need is greatest", in elementary and high school education, care of the sick, needy and elderly, catechetics, retreats and missions, social communications and mass media, and assistance in the chancery and bishops' residences. There is an annual Marian "Yidpust" in Sloatsburg on the Feast of the Dormition of the Blessed Virgin Mary.

In 1986 the Province of the Immaculate Conception numbered 67 professed sisters in 17 homes in the United States and one in Germany.

In 1906, four Sisters Servants were sent to Križevci to take care of the domestic services in the Bishop's residence and the adjoining seminary. In time, there were four missions in Yugoslavia, and until the outbreak of World War II they were part of the Halyčyna Province. The sisters modelled their apostolate on that of the sisters in Halyčyna – they conducted kindergartens, taught catechism to children and adults, distributed home made medicines to the sick and cared for the churches.

World War II cut off all communication with Halyčyna, and the sisters in Yugoslavia were left to their own resources. In 1940, seven newly professed Yugoslavian sisters and three novices were asked to return from Krystynopil to their homeland. For the three novices, a novitiate was opened in Kucura. It was transferred to Ruski Krstur in 1954, back to Kucura in 1963 and since 1965 it has been again in Ruski Krstur.

In 1947 the general administration of the Congregation established a vice province in Yugoslavia under the patronage of St. Joseph, with headquarters in Ruski Krstur. The first vice provincial superior was Sr. Sofronia Julija Ramač, the first Yugoslavian born Sister Servant.

Because of political circumstances in the country, the sisters are limited in the educational apostolate. They work in government hospitals and nursing homes for the aged. In this capacity, they attend not only to the physical needs of the patients, but to their spiritual needs as well. They also teach catechism in the parish churches and offer their facilities, organize and conduct retreats for girls. Like all Sisters Servants all over the world they are attentive to the beauty of churches.

In 1986 in the St. Joseph Vice Province there were 33 professed sisters and one novice in seven homes in Yugoslavia, one in England and one on Rome.

| Sister Barbara Szapka   | (1926-1942) |
| Sister Ksenia Soroka    | (1942-1961) |
| Sister Klementia Buczko | (1961-1967) |
| Sister Aleksia Barbadyn | (1967-1985) |

The general superior and general officers (who are also the provincial superior and provincial officers of the Province of Poland) are elected for 6 years. The local superiors are appointed for 3 years by the general superior.

The main purpose of the Sisters is the glory of God and the personal sanctification of the members. Their activities include the direction of orphanages and old age homes, providing care for those in need, especially priests, teaching catechism, sewing and embroidery, making church vestments, care of the sick, and care of churches.

The Sisters of St Joseph were founded in 1898 by Father Kyrylo Sileckyj (1835-1918), who was pastor of the parish in Żużel with a filial church in Cebliv, pov. Belz, from 1974 until his death in 1918. The co-founders were Sr. Anna Matwijczyna and Sr. Josyfa Kiszlyk.

An orphanage in Cebliv was built in 1898, which was directed by candidates to the monastic life. The house was officially recognized as a monastery in 1906, and the community took the name of Society of St. Joseph, Spouse of the BVM. Many other girls soon desired to join the group, and a novitiate with 8 candidates was opened by Father Sileckyj in 1908. By the following year there were 12 new candidates.

The first rule was composed by Father Sileckyj in c.1906, but it did not take into consideration the constitutions of Leo XIII (1900) and the norms for religious foundations (1901). It was therefore revised in 1918 by Bishop Josafat Kocylovskyj of Peremyśl and Father Zenon Kalyniuk, a priest of Lviv, and was approved by Bishop Kocylovskyj in 1919. After the death of Father Sileckyj, the sisters were under the spiritual guidance of the Redemptorist Fathers.

For several different reasons the name remained Society of St. Joseph, Spouse of the BVM until 1937, when it was changed to Congregation of St. Joseph, Spouse of the BVM. In 1939 the congregation had 42 houses in Halyčyna, with 160 sisters, 8 novices and 12 postulants. Suppressed after World War II in Ukraine by the Russians, they survived in Poland and now have 10 residences in Poland.

The motherhouse was in Cebliv [Sts. Cosmas and Damian monastery] from 1898 until 1947 when the sisters were dispersed during the war. After the war they gathered together again in Poland. Their motherhouse was in Jaskowa Górna from 1951 until 1967, then in Wrocław from 1967 until 1982, and has been in Kraków since 1982.

STUDITE NUNS

RR #1

Dundalk, Ontario, NOC 1B0

Tel. (519) 923-3327

Hegumenissa: Mother Daria Dublanycia [Дарія Дублянця].

In 1921, Metropolitan Andriy Šeptyckyj established the Studite nuns in Western Ukraine, and presented their Typicon to the Sacred Congregation for the Oriental Churches for approval in 1924.

When World War II broke out, there were 71 nuns (31 arcarie staurofore, 30 arcarie rasofore, 10 arcarie inservienti or poslušnyci) and 7 monasteries in Jachtoryv (novitiate, with 7 novices), Bruchovyč, Hajji, Lviv Peremyšlany, Pidhajci and Univ.

The nuns were dispersed during the war. A few of them took refuge in Germany, where they opened the monastery "Maria Schutz" in Krefeld (10 nuns) and the monastery of St. Andrew the Firstcalled in Buke (4 nuns), where they took care of elderly persons. In 1981 the monastery in Krefeld was given to the Basilian Sisters, and in 1987 the monastery in Buke was given to Melkite Sisters of Byzantine rite. The Studite nuns in 1982 went to Canada and opened a monastery in Dundalk, close to Toronto, where they live a life of contemplation. At present there are only two nuns, who support themselves by arts and crafts.

The Sisters Catechists of Sant'Ana were founded in 1932 by Father Omeljan Ananevyč in Mallet, Paraná under the name of Irmãs Franciscanas. He composed their first rule in 1933, and it was approved by Bishop Antonio Mazarotto of Ponta Grossa. After Father Ananevyč left in 1938 for the United States, the sisters remained without guidance for a time, and then in 1947 Father Metodío Koval was given the direction of the community. A new constitution was composed and approved by Cardinal Jaime de Barros Camara, Archbishop of Rio de Janeiro and Ordinary for Eastern rite Catholics in Brazil.

In 1962 the sisters came under jurisdiction of the Ukrainian Exarch of Brazil. The new constitution was composed in 1977 by Father Atanásio Kupicky, OSBM and approved by Bishop José Martenetz and Bishop Efraim Krevey.

The general house was in Mallet (1932-1962), in Vera Guarani (1962-1982) and since 1982 it has been located in Curitiba. In 1932 the novitiate was opened in the house of St. Francis of Assisi which name was later changed to Nossa Senhora de Fatima, and it remained there until 1948. It was then located in Vera Guarani (1949-1983) and is in Rio d'Areia since 1983.

The main purpose of the sisters is the teaching of catechism, the direction of orphanages, the care of the sick in hospitals and convalescent homes, and care of children and youth. The congregation in 1971 began an assignment in Rome and in 1983 accepted an assignment in Washington, DC.

The general superior is elected by the general chapter for a term of 6 years, and is approved by the eparch. Local superiors are appointed by the general council.

In 1939 there were 18 sisters, 4 novices and 6 postulants in 7 houses.

In 1987 there there were 51 professed sisters, 10 novices and 18 aspirants, living in 14 houses in Brazil, one house in Rome and one in Washington, DC.

The Missionary Sisters of the Mother of God were founded in Stamford in 1944 by Bishop Constantine Bohachevskyj of Philadelphia, and Bishop Ambrose Senyshyn, his Auxiliary. CATECHISTS OF THE SACRED HEART
- INSTITUTO DAS CATEQUISTAS DO SACRADA CORAÇÃO DE JESUS -

Rua Marechal Floriano Peixoto, 1214, Cx.P. 10
 84400 Prudentópolis, Paraná, Brazil. tel. (0422) 46-1383

Head Director: Meroslava Krevey [Мирослава Кривий]

The Catechists of the Sacred Heart were founded in 1940 in Paraná by Father Cristóforo Myskiv, OSBM, who gave them their original rule. They were approved on November 17, 1950 by Bishop Antonio Mazzarotto of Ponta Grossa, under whose jurisdiction were the Ukrainian Catholics of the region. On June 12, 1971 they became "juris pontificii", depending directly upon Rome. The original rule was later revised by the Assembly of Catechists, and approved by the Sacred Oriental Congregation on November 13, 1984.

The head director is elected for a term of 5 years by the Assembly of Catechists, and the local superiors are either appointed by the head director or elected by the members of the local house with the approval of the head director for a term of 3 years. The headquarters and novitiate of the Institute have been in Prudentópolis since the time of foundation.

The Catechists live their own private lives and support themselves, contributing a part of their salaries to the common fund of the Institute. They spend their free time teaching catechism in churches and schools, helping the priests in missionary work, leading the prayers when the priest can not be present, helping with church societies, or doing whatever other work is assigned to them by the church authorities, especially working to maintain the Ukrainian rite and culture. During the month of July courses in catechetics are given to prepare them for their teaching.

The regular Institute members take either temporary or perpetual vows. There are also auxiliary members who do not take vows, but give their assistance and full support to the Institute. They do not wear a religious habit, and most do not live in community, except for the time of their formation and novitiate and during the annual spiritual exercises and courses. The central house in Prudentópolis and Santa Olga Pension in Ponta Grossa are the only two houses in which is followed the religious life in common.

On account of the structure of their life, their numbers and names of the members are not published, except in a very general way. In 1987 there were 65 members, active in Brazil, Argentina and Paraguay.

Sergio e Baccho, to the Ukrainians by Pope Urban VIII for use as a college. It was not used as a college at that time because of lack of funds and insufficient space, so the students attended the Pontifical Greek College and the Pontifical College of Propaganda Fide.

The building for a number of years was used as the headquarters of the "Procurators of the Basilian Order and of the Kyivan Catholic Hierarchy", and was enlarged by the Basilian Order. In 1897 it was remodeled by Pope Leo XIII and Emperor Josyf I of Austria for use as a seminary, and the "Pontificio Collegio Ruteno" was established.

It remained at this location until 1932, when it was transferred to the present building on the Gianicolo Hill, built close to the Vatican, and the name was changed to "Pontificio Collegio di S. Giosafat". After World War II the name was modified to "Pontificio Collegio Ucraino di S. Giosafat". The building is owned by the Holy See, and is supported by the Sacred Congregation for the Oriental Churches.

The domestic care of the house was entrusted to the brothers of the Order of St. Basil the Great from 1904 until 1932. Since 1932 it has been served by the Sisters Servants of Mary Immaculate.

The purpose of the school is to give a Christian education to Ukrainian girls from the province of Misiones, especially those who aspire to become members of the Basilian Order. Formerly students were educated in Berisso (1943-1971), which is close to Buenos Aires and is 1,250 km. away. The distance and difference in climate made it advisable to open the school in Posadas, the capital of Misiones. Mother

María Afinec, the Provincial Superior, foresaw this need and in 1964 began to formulate a plan to open a secondary school in Posadas.

A building in Posadas was purchased in 1963, and an elementary school was opened in 1965. When the next Provincial Superior, Mother Magdalena Mondrak, founded the Colegio San Basilio in the March of 1972, most of the students came from the elementary school.

The elementary and high schools are located in the same building, the second floor of which is an "internat" or residence for students. The total area of the school grounds is 6,400 sq. metres.

Ukrainian Catholic Seminary Stamford, Connecticut

Historical data: The seminary was founded in 1933 by Most Rev. Constantine Bohachevsky, the Exarch for Ukrainian Catholics in the United States, and was owned by the Exarchate. On June 4, 1935 it was incorporated as Ukrainian Catholic Seminary, Inc. After the establishment of the Archeparchy of Philadelphia and the Eparchy of Stamford in 1958, the ownership passed to the Eparchy of Stamford, although it is supported by and serves the entire Archeparchy of Philadelphia with all of the eparchies of the USA. ### St. Basil Academy

711 Fox Chase Rd.

Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19111 ☎ (215) 885-3771

Principal: Sr. Carla Hernandez [Карля Гернандез ], OSBM, since 1986.

Historical data: The St. Basil Academy, a high school for girls, is owned by the Sisters of the Order of St. Basil the Great, and is supported by tuition from the students and private donations.

Because of the great demand for sisters to staff the growing number of Ukrainian Catholic schools in the United States during the 1930's, a school was needed to provide training and teaching preparation for the sisters. The academy was founded in 1931 by Mother Josaphat Theodorowych and the first classrooms were located in the convent of the Basilian Sisters, which had been built in the same year.

The school was affiliated with the Catholic University of America on May 3, 1934, and in June of 1934 the first three sisters were graduated. The academy was accredited as a secondary school by the Department of Education on May 2, 1939, with Ukrainian accepted as a language requirement. In May, 1978 the academy was fully accredited by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Schools for a ten year period, and accreditation was renewed in April, 1988 for another ten years.

The first lay boarder had been accepted in 1933, and by 1936 there were 18 girls living in a section of the convent, and applications for boarders rose to 29 in 1939. A building to house a residence for the boarders, an auditorium, a library, a dining room and a chapel was built in 1939. In the September of 1948 the school was opened also to day students, increasing the number of freshmen to 57, and making necessary the doubling of the number of teachers. To accommodate the increased enrollment, a temporary Sacred Heart Hall was built near the main building, to house the art and business departments as well as locker rooms and lunchroom facilities. The present new building with capacity for 400 students was constructed in 1961/1968, and the new Byzantine style chapel was completed in 1986. The total area of the school grounds is 15 acres.

The computer laboratory was opened in 1983, and now contains 20 computers and 8 printers. The lab is open to all students for personal and small group use, and since 1984 all freshmen have been required to take a course in Computer Literacy. Word Processing I and II are elective courses. The courses "Programming in BASIC" and "Pascal" are offered to upperclassmen.

In 1983, the school, in cooperation with St. Joseph's Prep. School, entered into exchange partnership with the Gutenberg Gymnasium in Bergheim, West Germany, under the auspices of the German American Partnership Program.

Appendix

PARISHES/LOCALITIES IN NORTH AMERICA WHICH HAVE BEEN CLOSED

Many former parishes or localities which had large enough Ukrainian Catholic communities to be served by a priest on a more or less regular basis have been closed. The reasons are various, but for the most part, the younger people moved to the larger cities and the older people either died or were not able to maintain a separate church, or there were not enough priests to take care of the smaller places.

Although it was not within the scope of the present schematism, it seemed that a list of these places should be included, in the hope that it will be of use to some future research – perhaps as an inspiration for a doctoral dissertation. The names and respective data for the following list are most likely incomplete, since the information was not collected systematically, but as it happened to be found. For the United States, it was taken from old directories, notices of assignments for priests, newspaper articles, personal recollection of my own and of other priests, etc. For Western Canada, the largest source was the Canadian Memorial Book<sup>1</sup> which indicates that they were in existence in 1941 and for Eastern Canada the Almanac of the Eparchy of Toronto<sup>2</sup>, which mentions them as founded or existing in the 1950's.

The names for Canada have been listed according to present day eparchies, although some were closed before the establishment of these administrative divisions. In the sources they are invariably written in the Cyrillic alphabet, so the spelling in some cases may not be accurate. Some places are mentioned in the sources by their familiar Ukrainian names or by former unofficial or local names rather than by their present geographical names, which may have caused some duplication of references. If the name change or duplication was known to me, the earlier name was included in brackets in the schematism itself for those places still open, e.g. Crawford Park [Somack], Manitoba on p. 323.

Biggar - Sacred Heart, began with a group of Ukrainians who settled in the area in 1912, and held services in the local Latin rite church. After being rebuilt in 1934, it was again destroyed on a Sunday morning, May 8, 1967, when the wood stove caught fire. The 5 acre site, which included a cemetery, had been donated by Ivan Solomyany. The second fire destroyed everything except a mission cross and bell tower, and was never rebuilt. A covered memorial stone wall has been erected on the site, with carved silhouettes of the first and second churches. Annual services on the Feast of the Transfiguration were held there until 1985.

A memorial cross now stands on the site. The cemetery adjoining the church is still serving the area.
- Runnymede – Sts. Volodymyr and Olga, was established in 1927, and a former school building was purchased in 1928, moved to the site one mile west of Runnymede, and made over for services in the Byzantine rite. The building was sold when the parish was closed in c.1967, the few remaining members registering in the parish at Kamsack.
- St. Phillips – Assumption of the BVM, was first known as Nativity of the BVM when the first church was constructed in 1907. The second church was built in 1917, 3 miles east of St. Phillips, after the first one was destroyed by fire in 1916. There are 2 cemeteries, one at the site of each church. During the time of its existence, the parish was attended by traveling missionaries, and by priests from Yorkton, Canora, Arran and Kamsack. It was finally closed in the 1970's because almost no people remained.
- Stornoway – St. Josaphat, was founded in 1906 and the first church was constructed between 1906 and 1910. This building was dismantled in 1960 and the second church was built between 1942 and 1948, on a 3 acre site located 3 miles northeast of Stornoway. The parish cemetery is at the site of the first church. Sr. Apollinaria, SSMI, came from the parish. It was closed in 1974, and the building sold to the parish in Bowsman, Manitoba.
- Stove Creek – St. Elias, located 15 miles north of Hazel Dell, was built between 1924 and 1928, to care for settlers from the district of Buchach, who came to the area beginning in 1914. The people gradually moved away to Preeceville, and the church was closed finally in the 1950's. The cemetery is at the site of the closed church.
- Tway [farms] – St. Paraskevia was built in 1904, to care for settlers from Radekhiv and Horodenka, who came to the area beginning in 1899. The log structure served for many years before being destroyed by a prairie grass fire on April 16, 1973, and was never rebuilt. At the site remains the wooden belfry which was built at the same time as the church, the hall and a mission cross. After the fire, the people attended Sts. Peter and Paul in the town of Tway.
- Uranium City – St. Basil the Great Mission post began in 1958, with services in the local Latin rite church, to accommodate the large number of Ukrainians who had found work there. It was attended from Hafford, and the priest had to fly in for services once a month during the summer months. It was discontinued when the people left the area after the job opportunities decreased.
- Veregin – St. Nicholas, was founded in 1934 and the first church was built on 4 acres 10 miles north of Veregin. The cemetery had already been purchased in 1912, by the settlers who had arrived

In the area beginning in 1906. When the older members died, and the younger ones went to look for work elsewhere, the parish was closed in the 1970's, after having been attended from Canora, Yorkton and Kamsack.

Weekes – St. Nicholas, formerly known as the "Mission Post at Doncrest" is located on a 2 acre site southwest of the town of Weekes. The church was built in 1946, although the area had been settled between 1927 and 1928, and services had been held in private homes since 1932. After a peak membership in the 1960's, the people began to move away or die until in 1975 only 4 members remained. The church is not officially closed, and occasionally a funeral service is held there, attended from Hudson Bay, but there are no regular services held.

Whitebeach (Sopoff) – Nativity of the Blessed Virgin Mary, located 14 miles north of Arran, was built in 1949, to care for Ukrainian settlers who had moved into the area from the surrounding district beginning in 1928. It existed until 1984, being attended from Arran, when it was closed because the people moved to Swan River, Manitoba. The cemetery remains at a site 2 miles southeast of the church.

Wroxton – Sts. Volodymyr and Olga, located 2 and a half miles north of Wroxton, was constructed in 1909, and renovated in 1949. The parish cemetery adjoins the church on the grounds. There have been 5 religious vocations from the parish – Sr. Rita, SSMI, Sr. Vitalia, SSMI, Sr. Serafyma, SSMI, Sr. Emanuela, SSMI and Sr. Apolonia, SSMI. Gradually, the members moved away from the farm district, and services in the parish, which was attended from Melville, were curtailed.
